Soviets Charge U. S. Arsenal Aimed at Them

Canadians Defend U. S. Stockpile of Nuclear Armaments

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States was expected to reply today to Soviet charges that it is endangering millions of Europeans' lives with a giant arsenal of nuclear warheads directed against the Communist states.

Informed sources said the United States would point out to the General Assembly's main political committee that the Soviet Union omitted mention of

OTTAWA (AP) — Canadian officials said today the U. S. nuclear bombs on planes of other Atlantic alliance nations are nothing more than tin cans until U. S. teams arm them on instructions from the U. S. President.

They said nuclear bombs are slung under a certain number of Canadian and West German F104 Starfighter jets in West Germany when the planes are on what is known as "quick action alert."

The bombs are useless until they are armed with various secret mechanical and electronic devices which can be operated only by the U. S. custody team and the U. S. nuclear officer, the officials said.

Western claims that vast numbers of nuclear warheads in the Soviet Ukraine are directed against Western Europe.

Semyon K. Tsarapkin, chief Soviet arms negotiator, made the charge against the United States Tuesday during the debate on a proposal to declare Africa a nuclear-free zone.

Cite Statement
Tsarapkin cited a statement by U. S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara that 5,000 atomic warheads stockpiled in Europe in support of the Atlantic allies would soon be increased to 6,000.

"One mistake would cause the death of millions of Europeans," the Soviet envoy declared.

Recorded Address

Peace Is Object of Ayub's U. S. Trip

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — President Mohammed Ayub Khan said today that his meeting with President Johnson Dec. 14 will be "a quest for peace."

In a recorded broadcast, Ayub said that while Pakistan is "engaged in mobilizing our resources and gearing our economy to preparedness for defense, we are not neglectful of the fundamental aim of our policies, namely the pursuit of peace."

"It will be in this quest for peace that I shall be proceeding to the United States where I shall be addressing the United Nations, meeting President Johnson in response to a long standing invitation from him."

Johnson invited Ayub in January but a scheduled trip in April was postponed because of the congressional session and other business.

Certain Strains
Ayub said during the last three years "certain strains have developed in our relations with the United States. They seem to have some grievances against us, as we have against them. We appreciate that nations do not enter into alliances from purely altruistic motives. They do so in furtherance of their national policies and objectives. These policies and objectives keep on changing with changes in the world situation. An adjustment in relations becomes inevitable from time to time but so long as there is an understanding of each other's point of view, adjustments can

Highest Toll of War

459 Vietnamese Killed in 7th Regiment's Last Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The destruction of South Viet Nam's 7th Regiment in savage fighting Saturday raised the Vietnamese weekly combat dead to 459, the government's second highest toll of the war, a U. S. military spokesman announced today.

Another 185 government soldiers were missing in action and 861 were wounded, the spokesman said.

The number of American dead dropped to 40 in the week ending last Saturday, the spokesman said. This compared with 240 Americans killed the previous week, the biggest U. S. casualty list since the United States began sending troops to Viet Nam nearly five years ago.

The U. S. toll last week was also far below the 70 and 88 Americans killed in the first two weeks of November.

Company Size
No U. S. units engaged Communist forces of any size during the week, while the Viet Cong made at least two and possibly three regimental-sized attacks on Vietnamese units. Five other Communist attacks were of battalion size and four were of company size.

The spokesman said 1,539 Viet Cong were killed during the week, giving U. S. and government troops a favorable kill ratio of 3 to 1.

Many of the South Vietnamese soldiers fell in the devastating attack on the 7th Regiment on an abandoned French rubber plantation 45 miles northwest of Saigon Saturday. Some U. S. advisers were among the casualties.

No major ground action was reported today, but the Viet Cong kept up guerrilla pressure, striking before dawn at three small government outposts in the central highlands south of the big U. S. air base at Da Nang. Communications went dead with one of the camps.

Killed One
U. S. Marines had their first action in some time in the Hue-Phu Bai area north of Da Nang, exchanging fire with about 20 Viet Cong. The Leathernecks killed one Communist and wounded four while taking light casualties, the spokesman said.

Air attacks continued on North Viet Nam with strikes

north and south of Hanoi, the capital. U. S. Air Force F105 Thunderjets damaged a railroad bridge and cratered several highways northwest of Hanoi, while jets and propeller-driven Skyriders from the carriers Ticonderoga and Bon Homme Richard dropped 30 tons of bombs on freight cars, army barracks and bridges near the coastal city of Vinh, a U. S. spokesman said.

He said Air Force and Navy planes flew 29 armed reconnaissance missions into North Viet Nam in the past two days. All aircraft returned safely, he reported.

93 to Arrive Today

Airlift of Refugees From Cuba Begins

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban refugees start streaming into the United States today in one of the most extensive airlifts of its kind in history.

The first airliner in the scheduled daily movement was expected to land in Miami shortly before noon today with 93 Cubans.

Between 800 and 1,000 refugees are expected weekly starting next week. The air lift, the product of negotiations between the U. S. and Cuban governments, is to continue indefinitely. Most of the exiles are to be transferred to cities throughout the nation.

One flight daily is expected this week and two flights daily after that. Sundays and possibly Saturdays will be excluded.

Refugees qualifying for the migration program are those with relatives in this country. Parents of children in the United States will be given preference, a U. S. official said.

Today's flight was the first arrival of the exiles face further between Cuba and the United

President, 'Quadriad' Plan Meeting

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, concerned about record living costs rising at a close-to-inflation rate, plans an early meeting with key economic advisors to map a federal campaign against further hikes in price tags.

Johnson is expected to meet within the next week or 10 days, either at his ranch home near here or in Washington, with what he terms his economic "quadriad" — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, Budget Director Charles L. Schultze, Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board and Chairman Gardner Ackley of his Council of Economic Advisors.

Routine Meeting
When it occurs, the session probably will be labeled a routine, periodic meeting of the group which, before Johnson's Oct. 8 surgery, got together with him at the White House about once every six weeks.

One reason for passing off such a conference in routine fashion — at least in advance — could be the potential impact on financial markets for stocks, bonds and, equally important, for money.

The "money markets" determine short-term borrowing costs that affect everyone from big industrialists to householders buying a new refrigerator on installment credit.

The Labor Department announced Tuesday in Washington that living costs rose by tenths of one per cent in October to an historic peak. The increase, the most rapid in some five years, nudged the upper limits of what the government

Women at War With New Battle Toys

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Christmas shoppers this Saturday will find themselves in a no-man's land when the San Francisco Women for Peace march out to battle war toys.

The organization's toy committee will bombard San Francisco shopping centers with literature urging the patronizing of four stores that ban war toys, a department store that refuses to advertise them and a toy manufacturer who has refused to go to war with his products.

"Civilization demands civilized toys," Julia Rosenthal told a news conference Tuesday. "Toys are tools for learning."

Agent Heard In Rights Trial

Three Klansmen Before Court in Alabama Killing

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A veteran FBI agent testified today that one of three men on trial for conspiracy in the death of Viola Gregg Liuzzo acknowledged when arrested that he was in the Selma-Montgomery area the night she was shot.

Special Agent Lawrence G. Gettings said defendant Eugene Thomas, 42, of Bessemer, Ala., however, said "he had no knowledge of this."

Thomas, along with Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, of Fairfield, Ala., and William Orville Eaton, 41, of Bessemer, are charged with conspiring to violate the civil rights of the Detroit mother of five.

Gettings, one of a number of FBI agents testifying in federal court, said prior to questioning Thomas, that the Ku Klux Klansman was advised of his constitutional rights to counsel or silence.

Klan Activities
He said Thomas told him he had been in the Selma-Montgomery area three times recently "carrying on Klan activities."

Thomas, according to Gettings, said the first time he visited the Selma area was "when Martin Luther King came over the bridge in Selma."

Defense attorney Arthur Hanes asked the judge if he could put on the stand U. S. Asst. Atty. Gen. John Doar as a witness. The judge replied that he could if it were material to the case.

Wilson Vows Fight To Protect Zambia

Power Plant on Rhodesian Border Will be Given Necessary Guard

LONDON (AP) — Britain will fight to protect the flow of power from the Kariba power plant in rebellious Rhodesia to the copper mines of neighboring Zambia, Prime Minister Harold Wilson declared today.

While the white government of Rhodesia has said it has no intention of cutting off the power, Wilson told a packed House of Commons Britain will take whatever action is necessary to protect the flow of electricity from the Kariba plant on the Zambian-Rhodesian border.

"If that did mean a limited (military) operation — we should be prepared to take that operation," he said.

Air Force Moves
As Wilson issued his warning in the House of Commons, his government moved Royal Air Force planes and men to Kenya, ready for quick movement into Zambia, which lies on breakaway Rhodesia's frontier.

Wilson warned: "The whole House should realize what the situation is."

"For a year the Conservative government was blackmailed" by the Rhodesia regime.

"For a year we have been blackmailed by the threat to cut off this electric power."

"Someone might go mad in Rhodesia and attempt to cut off the electric power and destroy and disrupt large sections of industry," the prime minister continued.

Wilson said for reasons the British lawmakers would understand he was in no position to give a definitive account of any arrangements reached with the Zambian government.

This represented confirmation of unofficial reports that President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia had objected to some of the terms imposed by Wilson on the deployment and purposes of any British force sent to Zambia.

Wilson disclosed that Commonwealth Relations Secretary Arthur Bottomley flew to Zambia's capital, Lusaka, to discuss a further request by Kaunda's government for a battalion of British ground troops.

This, Wilson said, would be in addition to Britain's offer of a force comprising a Royal Air Force squadron of Javelin fighters to be based in the copper belt city of Ndola and a ground element to be based in Lusaka.

LBJ Has No Plans For Viet Nam Visit

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson has no plans to visit South Viet Nam at Christmas.

Very few people even conceived of Johnson journeying to the danger-ridden war zone, a bodyguard's nightmare, until publication this week of a report in Newsweek magazine that some presidential advisers were urging such a trip.

Growing Form of Larceny

FBI Reports Annual Upsurge in Complaints of Shoplifting Listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — With just 20 shopping days until Christmas, the FBI reported today that shoplifting is the nation's fastest growing form of larceny, having increased 93 per cent in the past five years.

Police last year recorded 184,473 shoplifting cases involving stolen goods worth almost $5 million.

Most shoplifters are women, the FBI said, "probably because of the ease with which the female shoplifter can conceal stolen articles on and around her person."

The FBI's legal term for shoplifting is "stealing." To fit that description, the culprit must take merchandise from a store during business hours and carry it away with the intention of theft.

Professional shoplifters steal

for profit with the intention of reselling the merchandise, the FBI said.

"Usually with little income or means of support, he or she makes it his vocation, primarily working in department stores and specialty shops, though spreading his talent around where it will do the most good."

The professional prefers suburban stores over downtown stores because there is apt to be less security in the outlying establishments.

He often trains accomplices and works in pairs or threes, assigning one to distract the attention of the salesperson while the other helps himself to loot from the counters.

He generally avoids elevators and escalators for fear of being boxed in without chance of escape. Should shoplifting teams feel they have been observed, they will huddle around the display and replace the item.

Amateur Thieves
Among the amateur shoplifters are housewives, persons with small incomes and juveniles of both sexes.

"They steal for several reasons," the FBI said, "real or imaginary hardship, personal need, an opportunity presenting itself, inability to resist temptation, or — especially with juveniles — for the thrill involved."

The usual items taken by amateurs are lingerie, hose, costume jewelry and other small articles.

Dope Addicts
Narcotic addicts, the FBI said, seek merchandise with high resale value to get the money to feed their expensive habit.

Kleptomaniacs — who are afflicted with an irresistible desire to steal — usually come from upper middle class families and steal items "not because of their value but because they may have some hidden meaning."

But true kleptomaniacs make up less than 1 per cent of shoplifters, the FBI said.

Juvenile shoplifters, for the most part, take things they don't need, the FBI said. "They do not try to profit by their act of shoplifting, and, more often than not, do it as a sort of adventure," the report went on.

Viet Nam Patrols Led By German Shepherds

BY RONALD I. Deutsch

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Shortly before dusk 26 U.S. Infantrymen set out on a jungle patrol less than 30 miles from Saigon. Their mission: To ambush the Viet Cong.

It was like hundreds of other patrols for the 1st Infantry Division, except for one key difference: A lean, vicious German Shepherd dog led the way.

Nothing happened for three hours. Then the big dog became tense and stopped short. He pointed his body toward a clump of dense brush. The ambush was set.

Within 10 minutes, three or four Viet Cong walked into the trap and the Americans opened fire. One Viet Cong was killed; another, wounded, crawled into the undergrowth. The dog picked up the scent and led the Americans to him.

The incident typifies the increasing role played by scout dogs in the Vietnamese war.

Scout Dogs

"Our scout dogs will alert on any strange scent outside of the patrol," said Sgt. I.C. Jesse S. Mendez, 38, San Antonio, Tex., a military adviser on dogs. "They have been instrumental in the discovery of mines, documents, food, weapons and ammunition."

Several hundred German Shepherds are in use.

Most are sentry dogs on guard at U.S. installations. These are trained at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., in an eight-week course in which they are matched with volunteer handlers.

Both the Army and Marine Corps are using dogs more and more in the field.

The scout dogs, or "four-footed radar" as the GIs call them, also come from the United States but they are trained in Viet Nam and matched with Vietnamese handlers.

Experienced Handlers

These handlers are experienced field soldiers. Often on patrols they are the first to take casualties because they walk with the dogs ahead of the troops.

"By now," said one Vietnamese, "the dogs are accustomed to the odor of the American GI, so that when the VC are in the area, the dog's alert is even stronger."

"The Viet Cong have been using dogs, too, but they haven't had the training our teams have had, so they're not nearly so effective."

It takes three to five days for the dog to become used to Viet Nam's heat and humidity. Each dog must be between 1 and 2 years old, weigh 60 pounds and stand 23 inches high at the shoulder.

Snakes rather than the Viet Cong have proved to be one of the dog's greatest enemies since the first arrivals in July. A few have taken fatal bites and alerted their masters before the snakes could bite them.

OSHKOSH — City Manager Ray E. Harbaugh has accepted a position with a management consulting firm in Chicago beginning today.

In a statement Tuesday Harbaugh said he was offered this position last week and that a poll of the council members indicated they had no objections to his changing his resignation date from an effective date of Dec. 31 to Tuesday.

None of the projects in process will be hampered by this change, Harbaugh said. The council last Tuesday named Angus Crawford, city manager Berkely, Mo., to be the new city manager. He will take his post Feb. 15. No designation has been made of an acting city manager until then.

Trainers find one of their toughest jobs is teaching the dogs to arrest their natural instinct of seeking out animals — and to hunt humans instead. It doesn't always work that way. At Pleiku recently, an alert was sounded at two U.S. installations when a Shepherd pointed toward an open field beyond the U.S. defense perimeter. Radar showed what looked like a half circle of men in the field.

U.S. troops dived for bunker positions and bullets whizzed for nearly an hour. When the firing stopped, the dog still was pointing, but the "half circle of men" turned out to be a creek bed. And out of the creek trotted a female dog.

Neighbors Respond to Man's Call for Help

Edward Fischer, 79, 1023 W. Lawrence St., was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital about 2 p.m. Monday after he became ill and neighbors heard him calling for help.

Members of the Appleton Fire Department rescue squad said they found the man lying on the kitchen floor. He was taken to the hospital in Larry's Ambulance.

Realtor Offers Land For Future Streets to City of Appleton

Future plans calling for connecting Appleton and Oneida Streets today prompted a local realtor to offer property for sale to the City of Appleton.

In a letter to city officials, Otto Bytof said in reviewing the proposed central business district plan for Appleton, he noted the street connection project would cross three parcels of land now for sale by his agency. He urged city officials to consider necessary land purchases now, pointing to the possibility of rising costs at a future date.

New Economic Rules Hardship on Rhodesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A new set of economic rules has eased more hardships on the Indonesian people, already ripped in the vise of inflation. The Indonesian economy was back before the Communists and their allies tried to stage a coup Oct. 1. It is sicker now as the army chases Communists and Chinese businessmen, fearful of being caught in the roundup, take to cover. The common people are apprehensive as the cost of living skyrockets. The price of rice, second quality, has reached 2,000 rupiahs per liter. In the last week of June it was 310 rupiahs. This is a 677 per cent increase. Other essential commodities have risen in the same proportion. An unstable situation in trade circles resulted in a near panic among businessmen — notably Chinese, who are reported smuggling their capital abroad. A presidential decree gave the government the right to seize control of key private enterprises. The price of gasoline was increased along with railway and inter-island shipping fares.

Finally, a new economic-financial policy for 1966 was decreed by President Sukarno. This called for an austerity program in development projects but stipulated that spending would be continued on Sukarno's political and prestige enterprises. The policy put all imports and exports under increased government control. The new policies were issued either by Sukarno or by his civilian aides apparently without the consent of the army, which has been virtually ruling the country since the attempted coup. Army-controlled newspapers and sympathizers said the new economic rules were issued to divert the people from the anti-Communist campaign. Supporters of the military fear that the army may be blamed for the deteriorating economic conditions. Sukarno wants the Communist movement to be kept so that his concept of "Nasakom" remains alive. "Nasakom" calls for co-operation between nationalist, religious and communist groups. Sukarno said it was not necessary that the PKI — the initials of the Indonesian Communist party — represent the Communists on "Nasakom."

Political quarters say that time is on Sukarno's side. Sukarno apparently feels that with time he may regain the full powers that he partly lost to the military after the attempted coup. Last week, the defense minister and chief of staff of the armed forces, Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, said in effect that the military are not anti-Communist but anti-PKI.

Mail Includes Barbers, Alcoholics and History

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things columnist might never know he didn't open his mail: Accidents now cost America $15 billion a year. Last year, accidents killed 104,000 people, hurt about 50 million—roughly one out of every four persons in the nation. Kids are getting bigger. In the last four decades, 15-year-old boys have gained four inches in height and 20 pounds in weight, girls two inches and 10 pounds. Tell your wife not to hurry through the Supermarket. A University of Missouri survey found that 15 extra minutes of comparative food shopping could result in saving 5 per cent on a $20 purchase. Stamps and Coins Did you know that no living person is portrayed on any U.S. stamp or coin? Odd legislation: In 1859 the Federal Court of Massachusetts passed a law making the observance of Christmas a penal offense. Barbering is one of the world's oldest occupations. Egyptian relics indicate the nobility and priesthood patronized barbers 6,000 years ago. There are more than 20 mentions of barbering in the Bible. Quotable notables: "If you practice an art, be proud of it and make it proud of you. It may break your heart, but it will fill your heart before it breaks it; it will make you a person in your own right!" —Maxwell Anderson. Indulging Women Women are turning more often to the cup that cheers. Six out of 10 women now indulge at least occasionally in alcoholic beverages compared with eight out of 10 men. But the bad news is that one out of every 13 so-called social drinkers in America is an alcoholic. History lesson: The custom of holding egg rollings at Easter on the White House lawn began during the administration of Andrew Jackson, who loved children but was childless himself. Five other presidents had no children. They were George Washington, James Madison, James Knox Polk, Warren G. Harding, and, of course, our only bachelor president — James Buchanan. Risk By Smokers A leaflet prepared by the U.S. Public Health Service gives this warning: "The risk of death from all causes is 70 per cent higher for cigarette smokers than for nonsmokers." It pays to take a business prospect to lunch. One firm found that its salesmen who never entertained customers averaged only $330,000 in annual orders, but those who took potential buyers to lunch three or four days a week averaged $729,000. Prosperity note: Better than three out of every four American families own automobiles; more than eight million families have two or more cars. Folklore: If a bird flies into a house, someone who lives there soon will die. It will spoil your luck if you kill a spider. When a sick person stretches that's a sign he's getting well. You can get rid of a sty on your eyelid by touching it with the tail of a black cat. $10,000 Investment Quickies: Most laundry at the Vatican still is done by hand. Doctors now can predict a child's future height by studying X-rays of his hand and wrist bones. A $10,000 investment in a college education pays off the average graduate with $140,000 added earnings later in life. The carrion crow and the cockatoo are the only birds known to have lived over 100 years. It was actress Judith Anderson who observed, "There is nothing enduring in life for a woman except what she builds in a man's heart."

Six-Month-Old Martha Flores Setto obviously hasn't heard about the benefits of drinking milk—at least, if one judges by the reaction of the Cuban refugee when she was offered a glass of milk by Marlene Vitanza, a port receptionist for the immigration service after the child arrived at the Coast Guard station in Key West, Fla. Propose Four-Year Terms for Elected Appleton Officials

Board of Public Works Proposal On Agenda for Council Tonight

Four-year terms were recommended Tuesday for Appleton aldermen and other key elective officials.

The action was taken by the board of public works on a resolution recently submitted to the council by Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th).

At present, the mayor, clerk, treasurer, assessor and aldermen serve two-year terms.

The city's 20 aldermen get paid $1,200 annually for their part-time duties. They recently turned down a proposed wage increase.

Hearing Set On Closing Of State 26

Winnebago Request To Discuss Status Of Road Granted

OSHKOSH—The State Highway Commission has set a public hearing on the closing of State 26 in the Winnebago County airport area for 10 a.m. on Thursday, Jan. 6.

The hearing was asked by the Winnebago County Board which also asked relocation of State 26 to permit expansion to the south of the Winnebago County airport. The highway now serves as a southern boundary for a portion of the airport.

The State Highway Commission announcement indicated the road would be relocated from a point east of U.S. 41 to its junction with Oregon Street and W. 24th Avenue in Oshkosh "along the most practical route deemed feasible" and that the commission reserves the right to consider any feasible location of the state highway between those points.

In a previous meeting with the county highway and airport committees, L. W. Empey, district highway engineer, indicated the road probably would be relocated south of Ripple Road but that the new road may not be built for at least 10 years.

The county must absorb the cost of acquiring the land necessary for the new road and should secure this land at the earliest possible time to preserve the location of the road, even though the land may not be used for some time, Empey indicated.

The present State 26 traffic could be re-routed along U.S. 41 and State 44 into Oshkosh if the commission decides to abandon the present highway to permit the airport expansion.

Officials Rule Out Failure to Shut Off Steam as Blast Cause

Officials checking damage to machinery at the Combined Locks Paper Co. have definitely ruled out that failure to shut off valves had any connection with a blast which rocked the building Saturday. Officials said they have been unable to place the cause of the explosion.

The firm has been struck for 30 days and the company has not been in full production.

Repair to the three paper machines damaged in the blast will be undertaken by the firm's insurance carriers and it is estimated the repairs will take 10 days.

Alice in Dairyland Is Expected For Convention in 'Apple Town'

A merger plan for the Wisconsin Horticulture Society and Wisconsin Apple Institute is expected to be presented at their annual convention at Appleton's Conway Motor Inn Thursday.

The joint meeting will continue through Friday and feature the appearance of Alice in Dairyland at Thursday night's banquet. Convention theme is "Challenge of Change."

The 97-year-old Horticulture Society is headed by Walter Clemmons of Mequon. George Premo, Richland Center, is Institute president. Merger talks were begun at last year's convention in Appleton.

Louis Mechlin, chairman of the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce, announced that prize winning boxes of apples from the convention will be donated to Appleton service clubs for them to auction off at future meetings. Proceeds will go to each club's favorite charity.

Need 1,000 Buyers

Twenty Salesmen Take Night-Time Junket of YMCA Sales 'Product'

BY RAY PY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A deserted building near Appleton's downtown, which is rapidly becoming a piece of the city's skyline, was toured by 20 "salesmen" who, beginning in February, will try to "sell" the building to about 1,000 persons.

The salesmen who viewed the progress being made at the new Appleton YMCA, will be collecting new memberships for the organization during the annual drive, Feb. 1-16.

Fired by a pep talk delivered by YMCA Board Chairman Dr. William Chandler, the salesmen are committed to a program of bringing family membership to the new central YMCA building which will open its doors sometime in April.

Guided by Dr. Chandler and James Warrick, YMCA general secretary, the salesmen viewed the rooms, lobbies, pools and gymnasiums taking shape in the new building. Warrick said that a count of the rooms in the new building has never been undertaken and he could give no estimate of how many rooms are included.

Salesmen attempted a count Tuesday night, but became confused in the myriad of aisles and hallways and gave up before their task was completed.

Highlight of the tour was the large gymnasium, easily one of the largest such facilities in the Fox Cities, which will have a sliding wall to make two complete gyms.

The large, main swimming pool which will be visible to the visitor through large glass panes in the main lobby, is nearing completion. The pool, 25 yards long with six lanes, is designed for swimming competition. A smaller pool located in a basement below the main pool, is designed for special swimming lessons.

Dr. Chandler said the traffic control into the building will be directed from the main lobby desk. All doors to the pool and gymnasium decks will be locked and under the control of the deskman.

Before the tour, Dr. Chandler emphasized to the 20 salesmen, meeting at a kickoff dinner in the old YMCA building, that family membership sales should be the goal for each salesman. He said door-to-door solicitation is not going to be conducted, but YMCA salesmanship will be conducted "through personal contact with friends, business associates and neighbors."

He predicted no trouble in reaching the 1,000 new member goal and stated that the goal should easily be surpassed.

Due to high cost of new construction, Dr. Chandler said the YMCA "needs" the new membership to reach 4,000 members, a figure which can best support the operation of the new building. Salesmen were told that family and single membership costs may be increased after the membership drive is completed.

Prompt Action Advised in Joining Vocational District

Prompt action by school districts to join area vocational schools was urged Tuesday evening by Richard Whinfield, assistant to the director of the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

Speaking to 92 members and representatives of 23 boards of education who met at Kimberly High School, Whinfield said, "All districts of the state will be incorporated in an area vocational school and it would be to the advantage of any district board of education to petition the state board as soon as possible."

So far, Appleton, Kimberly, Neenah and Menasha boards of vocational education have expressed a desire to proceed with the development of an area school.

Concern About Cost of Schools, Plans for New Northwest Unit Prompt Conference on Dec. 14

Board of education budget procedures, and the possibility of hiring architects on a competitive basis for future school construction projects, will be aired at a special meeting of Appleton officials Dec. 14.

The meeting was scheduled at Tuesday's board of public works meeting after Ald. Arthur E. Mueller (19th) pressed for action on his resolution to have plans prepared for a new northwest elementary school so construction can begin next year.

Board members felt Mueller's proposal tied in with other matters concerning the school board, including a recent resolution of John MacDonald (7th) to have construction budgets set in advance and then strictly adhered to when it comes to erecting new school and other municipal buildings.

Attention was focused on the board of education's budgeting and school construction procedures recently when construction of the new senior high school was delayed because of the original $5.6 million bid total.

At the annual municipal budget hearing, the Appleton Taxpayers Association also asked if the board of education could revise its budget format.

The 2:30 p.m. meeting, which will be held at the city hall, will be attended by members of the city council's school advisory committee, board of education and the board of public works.

Aldermen feel no change can be made in the architect hiring or budget policies unless the school board agrees.

Waited for 10 Years

Mueller said he didn't care who hired an architect as long as plans for the northwest school could be prepared in the near future. He said the people in that sector of the city have waited for a new grade school for about 10 years.

"It should be built in 1966 and opened in 1967," Mueller told the board. At the last joint meeting of school board and city council, the northwest school was listed as a 1966 construction project.

The company is the only non-union firm on the job and has the contract for storm sewer construction at the freight house, located on Sanford Street, behind St. Thomas Episcopal Church.

Peter Succa, representative for the Appleton Building Trades Council, said the two pickets were in the area because the Wiesler Construction Co. wasn't paying union rates or fringe benefits. He added that the firm isn't using a licenses man to put in sewers.

Target date for completion of the project is Dec. 15. Progress on the warehouse and loading facility was delayed once before when the teamsters struck local concrete suppliers in October. Construction started immediately after the strike was settled.

The freight house is designed to handle the loading of box cars on the inside and three on the outside. The principal user of the complex will be the Wisconsin Paper Group, an organization of some 35 state paper manufacturers which pool their smaller orders for railroad shipments in Menasha.

State Aids

Other sources of income include state aids which amount to as much as 80 per cent for full-time post high programs; federal aids representing up to 50 per cent of instructional cost and 50 per cent of the cost of approved equipment as well as 50 per cent of salaries for special programs.

Post high school programs available include:

Sales and marketing, accounting, data processing, electronics, mechanical design technology, auto mechanics, graphic arts, machine shop, secretarial, stenographic, and general office.

Apprentice programs available will include electricians, machinists, sheet metal, carpentry, meat cutting, masonry, steamfitting, plumbing, painting and decorating, barbering and cosmetology.

Market Ignores Business Boom In Down Trend

General Fluctuations Cancel Hearty Rises In Specific Issues

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market has ignored all the golden profits reports and the predictions of a bigger boom ahead to end up November about where it was in the middle of October.

That is, the ups and downs of the popular stock averages have about canceled themselves out. But a number of individual companies and some industries have held the public's fancy and staged considerable price gains. The see-saw hesitancy of the general list, as measured by the blue chips, has been due to the uncertainties that plagued the market after the summer upsurge. But, as usual, some of these very uncertainties have aided the stocks of favored industries.

Speculative Enthusiasm
Example: A big damper on general speculative enthusiasm has been the buildup of the war in Viet Nam. Traders change their mind from week to week as to whether this might get big enough to put a crimp in some civilian goods production and sales. Yet in one sector of the market, aerospace and aeronautics, the tendency has been for stocks to go on rising. Companies with defense orders, or prospects of bigger orders, have benefited.

One uncertainty plaguing stock traders has been how the tug of war between the advocates of tight money and easy money will turn out. More abundant credit might fire up the boom, making stocks attractive; tight money might put a clamp on consumer buying and business spending and bring the boom to an end. This uncertainty has put some investors on the sideline to wait for a clearer decision.

The government's clamp down on price increases in aluminum copper and high grade wheat also worries some traders. They are trying to figure what this may mean to the boom — and more specifically, to the profit prospects of business in general. Investors, like corporate executives, get skittish at signs of government control.

Recession of 1958
Others apparently are still unconvinced that the economy is going to expand smartly next year. They see auto sales setting records now, but aren't sure they can get much better. They are told that business is planning to spend more for plant and equipment, but aren't too sure this won't mean excess productive facilities. A plant construction boom in 1956 and 1957 meant a surplus of idle equipment in the recession of 1958.

Profits are reassuring. They are setting records. Dividend payments are running some 11 per cent ahead of a year ago and year-end extras are becoming common. But all this is based on past performance. Some traders are afraid that profit margins, which have been getting fatter this year, are due to shrink as production costs rise.

Yet all of the hesitancy hasn't bothered some industries in the last few weeks. Standard & Poor's compilation of stock prices shows these groups doing better than the market as a whole: makers of television and radio sets, railroads, coal companies, machine tools, electronics, aerospace, electrical equipment, publishing and metal fabricating.

In many cases prices haven't advanced as fast as they did during the summer upturn. But the public is still playing favorites, even if the blue chip averages may seem stuck on dead center.

Appleton Gets Three Identical Insurance Bids

Three identical low bids were received by the City of Appleton Tuesday on its workmen's compensation insurance for the coming year.

The bids were opened by the board of public works and resulted in the deadlock—the same situation which existed last year.

Integrity Mutual Insurance, Inc. is presently the city's insurer. Submitting the low premium bid of $25,853.23 was a combine consisting of Weiland Agency, Independent Insurance Agents of Appleton and Integrity Mutuals — plus Sentry Insurance and Employers Mutuals. Employers Mutuals submitted the low premium rate for liability and municipal fleet coverage, $9,482. Second lowest rate was Sentry Insurance, $9,968.

The board will study the bids before making a recommendation to the council.

Woman Hit by Train Hard Of Hearing

Mrs. Oscar Voeks Of Appleton Also Had Poor Vision

Mrs. Oscar Voeks, 77, 208 W. Hancock St., who was killed Tuesday morning when she stepped in front of a freight train at the N. Oneida Street crossing, was "very hard of hearing" and had poor vision, according to a daughter.

Mrs. Voeks, who was pronounced dead on arrival at Appleton Memorial Hospital, died of head and chest injuries, according to Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps.

Trainmen on the three-locomotive Chicago and North Western freight that was northbound from Fond du Lac to Green Bay, told authorities they were traveling about 25 miles an hour when Mrs. Voeks was struck. "Physical evidence revealed the train was traveling well within the speed limit for trains passing through Appleton," Kemps said.

Mrs. Voeks, who was thrown about 83 feet after being struck as she crossed the tracks, walking north on the west sidewalk of N. Oneida Street, had just left a clinic and was going to stop at a dairy.

Second Fatality
Her death was the second train-pedestrian fatality in Outagamie County this year, Kemps said. A Kimberly youth was killed by a switching freight last March.

Born Feb. 5, 1889 in Milwaukee, Mrs. Voeks lived on a farm near Black Creek prior to moving to Appleton 24 years ago. She is survived by three

Army Won't Appeal Reversal of Conviction By Military Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government won't appeal a judge's ruling that a soldier was wrongly imprisoned because he lacked competent counsel at his special court-martial.

Pfc. James E. Stapley, 19, was convicted last summer at a special courts-martial at Ft. Douglas, a small Army base in Salt Lake City, Utah.

State Court Denies Change Of Attorneys

Decision Refuses Indigent's Right To Pick Counsel

County Judge Gustave J. Keller was supported by the State Supreme Court in a decision last week denying a change of attorneys for Richard Allen Cornelius, 19-year-old Milwaukee youth charged with arson.

The state high court, in a letter received by Judge Keller Tuesday afternoon, said it had refused to issue an order to show cause against the judge as requested by Appleton attorney Allen Cain.

The letter, signed by Chief Justice George R. Currie, stated that Cain, on Monday, had presented to the court, in behalf of Cornelius, a petition in which he complained of Judge Keller's refusal to accept substitution of attorney and order the replacement of court appointed attorney Hugh F. Nelson by Cain.

Stayed Action
The proposed order to show cause would have stayed proceedings against Cornelius until the court could make its determination on the order.

Judge Keller Friday refused a motion by Cain to be substituted as Cornelius' attorney, saying that an indigent, although having the right to counsel at county expense, could not select his counsel.

Told of Decision
Cornelius, a former West DePere resident, was told of the Supreme Court ruling Tuesday afternoon, when he appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

He is charged with three counts of arson and one of criminal trespass in connection with fires early Oct. 31 that destroyed the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church and barns owned by George Verkuilen and John Peterson, all in the Town of Oneida.

The three counts of arson are felony charges and the trespass count, filed in connection with entry into a convent on the parish grounds, is a misdemeanor.

Judge Keller, on request of Cornelius' attorney, ordered the case continued to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 7. Cornelius remains in jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

The number of persons taking out nomination papers for county board election in April reached 20 this morning with two more incumbent supervisors making known their intentions.

Two Contests
They are Glenn E. Pelton, 939 E. Washington St., (Appleton 12) who will seek board election from Supervisory Dist. 13, and Thomas A. Thorson, 2915 N. Morrison St., incumbent Grand Chute supervisor, who will seek nomination for Dist. 27. That district, encompassing the Town of Grand Chute, will have two county board representatives.

No one else has filed from the Grand Chute district. As of today only two contests shape up for county board posts.

In Dist. 38, including the Towns of Ellington and Center, Supv. Emmett W. Root, route 1, Hortonville (Town of Ellington) and Henry J. Van Straten, route 1, Hortonville, former Outagamie County school superintendent, have taken out papers.

The other contest is in Supervisory Dist. 43 (Towns of Black Creek and Osborn) where Supv. Alvin M. Sasman (Black Creek) and Supv. Edward F. Peotter (Osborn) have indicated they will seek nomination.

Amid Wind, Cold but Little Snow

Mo-Ski-Tow Hill Club Kicks Off Season

NEW LONDON — Frigid air, howling winds and a light snow made the 10th annual kickoff of the ski season for Mo-Ski-Tow-Hill, Inc. members appropriate Saturday evening.

About 50 members gathered at the View Ridge chalet, about two miles east of here on Outagamie County S. for the ski season's opening activities.

Slides of the construction of the View Ridge hill, started three years ago, movies on skiing and refreshments were included in the activities.

'Skiable Grass'
George Kubisiak, president, said the season would open as soon as there was enough snow. "We have the most skiable grass in the state," he added jokingly.

Members have constructed snow barriers to be used on the slopes in making the skiing surface as uniform as possible. The barrier is an X-shaped wood construction which can be moved about the slopes to problem areas. The barrier is two feet high and eight feet long.

Kubisiak said the slope had runs for beginners through experts.

The hill operates two main rope tows. The biggest is an 1,110 foot tow which services the hill. The beginners' tow is 250 feet. The intermediate slope is about 450 feet long, the skiers' slope 2,200 feet and the beginners' slope about 250 feet long.

Other improvements since the slope was first started include a chalet type warming house and resting area and added parking area.

Consider Equipment
Kubisiak said plans were in the working stage for the construction of two A frame sheds for operators of the ski tows. The board has also looked into the possibility of purchasing snow-making equipment or artificial plastic snow.

More than $1,000 in season tickets has been sold, Kubisiak reported. Membership in the club is about 600.

Plans are again being made to participate in The Post-Crescent Ski School, scheduled to begin Jan. 15.

About 300 feet of snow fence will be strung along the edge of the hill to aid in catching every bit of possible snow. The white stuff has been a scarce quantity for skiers in lower northeastern Wisconsin the past few years.

Open on Christmas
Members and directors of the club take turns in running the hill operation during the season. It is officially scheduled to open Christmas Day, but "whenever there is adequate snow, we will open," Kubisiak said.

The hill will be open from 11 a.m. - 4 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays after opening and from 7 - 10 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Other officers are Del Beno, vice president; Barry Hammerberg, secretary, and John Cosello, treasurer. Directors are Victor Stracke, Glen Mann, and Ol Mead.

60,000,000 TIMES A DAY

The American people buy this many daily newspapers every day. Newspaper circulation

HOW DAILY NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION HAS GROWN IN THE POST-WAR PERIOD

has been climbing steadily ever since the appearance of America's first daily more than 180 years ago...and it's still growing. Last year daily newspaper circulation reached a record 60,412,266—an increase of more than 1,500,000 over 1963—the greatest single increase in almost 20 years!

More people are buying newspapers today because newspapers have more to offer. Statistically, they carry more news in greater depth as well as more advertising than ever before.

There is hardly an American home that doesn't receive at least one daily newspaper regularly. People depend on their newspapers. Could you get along without yours?

AEC Inspects Stoughton Site For Smasher

Tract One of 85
Being Considered
By Commission

STOUGHTON (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission survey team planned to devote six hours today to inspecting Wisconsin's proposed site for a $340 million atomic accelerator.

The four-man team was scheduled to tour a 5,000-acre tract near Stoughton that is now the location of the Midwestern Universities Research Association (MURA) facilities. The group was formed by 15 schools in 1956.

The survey team is one of eight such groups touring 85 sites throughout the country which are under consideration for the mammoth scientific complex.

46 States
MURA's original bid for an atomic accelerator several years ago failed, but the site is under consideration again. Forty-six states submitted proposals designed to attract the 200 billion electron volt machine to their areas.

In September, the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) trimmed the list of 126 proposals to 85, including Stoughton. Survey teams are now touring the remaining possibilities.

Members of the team scheduled to inspect the MURA site were Dr. John Swarthout, the AEC's assistant general manager for reactors; Dr. Raymond Fricken of the AEC research division; Dr. Robert Livingston of the AEC's Oak Ridge, Tenn., national laboratories and Jack Bane, an engineer with the AEC construction division.

Experiments Devices
MURA, a non-profit corporation, now operates a 50 million electron volt accelerator. The organization now employs about 100 persons, who are constructing atomic experimental devices.

The site is located off U.S. Highway 51 near Lake Kegonsa, about 12 miles south of Madison. It includes 240 acres now owned by MURA, 69.5 acres under public ownership and farm land owned by private individuals.

The universities comprising the association are: Chicago, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Iowa State, Kansas, Michigan, Michigan State, Minnesota, Northwestern, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Purdue, Washington of St. Louis and Wisconsin.

Medical Group Accuses AMA of Segregation

NEW YORK (AP) — The president-elect of the National Medical Association has charged that the American Medical Association has refused to open its door to membership by qualified Negro physicians.

Dr. John L. S. Holloman Jr., a Negro, said Tuesday night the AMA permits segregation by allowing its county medical societies to practice racial discrimination.

The NMA has about 4,400 members, most of whom are Negroes.

Headed for Record Congressmen Globe Trot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators and representatives seem on their way toward establishing a record for globe-girdling travels during the congressional recess.

The bill for this year's overseas missions will not be known until some time in March when all of the itemized accounts are turned in and published in the Congressional Record.

But it is expected to exceed by far the $396,876.65 spent in 1964 — $239,300.90 for travel; by House members and $157,575.30 for expenses of senators.

On the whole, congressmen on missions for House and Senate committees can charge the government for their official expenses. But many say they pay their own way, including travel by commercial airliner, hotel bills and the like.

Pay Expenses
All are supposed to pay for entertainment, such as visits to theaters and night clubs. In most cases they are supposed to pay for their wives if they take them along.

The bulk of the overseas spending is covered by the use of so-called counterpart funds, or U. S.-owned currencies which have accumulated largely when surplus farm commodities are sold under the Food for Peace program for local currency rather than U. S. dollars.

The purpose of the trips include inspection of military installations, investigation of how the foreign aid program is being run, attendance at international conferences, checking into peace prospects in Viet Nam and inspection of how the Alliance for Progress program is operating in Latin America.

Mansfield Trip
The most-publicized trip this year is the fact-finding mission Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana is conducting at President Johnson's request along with Sens. George D. Aiken, R - Vt., Edmund S. Muskie, D - Maine, Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii and J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del.

They have already been to most European capitals, including Moscow and Paris, and will wind up their inquiry in South Viet Nam.

Parliamentary Meetings
More than 50 House members were appointed to attend separate parliamentary meetings held during the year in Ottawa, Paris, Mexico City and Dublin, in addition to one now in progress in Wellington.

Next week a House Foreign

Affairs group headed by Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D - Wis., will take off for Cracow, Poland, to help dedicate a children's hospital built with American funds. Stop-overs are scheduled for Paris, Vienna, Madrid and Warsaw.

Many of the estimated 20 committee members scheduled to take the trip will not leave from Washington but will converge on Cracow from the far-away points they are now visiting.

Zablocki and seven other con-

Shoe Salesman Missed Sale — the Hard Way

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Alex Sellock, owner of a downtown shop, says he was trying to fit an attractive young lady with a pair of fur-lined boots when she pointed a small pistol at him and ordered him into the storeroom. Then she made off with $50 from the cash register Tuesday night.

Six Children Killed in Fire in Pennsylvania

QUAKERTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A fire wrecked a wooden house three miles west of this southern Pennsylvania community Tuesday night killing six children.

A seventh child was hospitalized with burns suffered when fire wrecked the home of Chester Allen Sr. in the sub-freezing cold.

Chester Allen Jr., a son, said those killed in the blaze were his brothers, Eric, 1, David, 11, and four foster children cared for by his parents; Jack Jones, 2, Robin Jones 8, Penny Jones 6, and Ronnie Jones 7.

Chester Jr., 19, his wife, Elaine, a sister, Elizabeth, 17, and their mother returned to the house in time to see flames rush up one wall and engulf the one-story structure.

The clothes of Chester Jr. and his mother were burned as they tried vainly to reach the trapped and screaming children.

The mother managed to drag to safety a son, Alonzo, 12, who was in serious condition at a Quakertown hospital.

$1.2 Million Building Destroyed When Plane Slides Into Hangar

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A jet fighter plane slid into a hangar while landing at Elmendorf Air Force Base Tuesday night, setting a fire which destroyed the $1.2-million building.

The pilot, Lt. Col. Francis R. Lawson of the 325th Fighter Wing, McCord Air Force Base, near Tacoma, Wash., escaped but suffered a back sprain and was placed in a hospital.

The F106 was completing a flight from Eielson Air Force Base, near Fairbanks. It slid into the back of the hangar, which housed three planes which firemen managed to remove.

De Gaulle Campaigns In TV Talk

Says Election of
Opponents 'Would
Return Odious State'

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle made a television pitch for re-election Tuesday night, saying much still can be done for progress and peace and France wants a strong man at its head.

He said the election of any of his five opponents "would without fail mark the return to the odious state" of the nation under previous regimes.

The 75-year-old president had planned no campaign speeches but changed his mind after public opinion polls indicated his opponents were making gains and many voters were still undecided about their choice for the election Dec. 5.

One poll published Tuesday by the newspaper France-Soir said 36 per cent of those questioned had not made up their minds. The newspaper Le Monde said 38 per cent in its poll were undecided.

France-Soir said 51 per cent of the others questioned were for De Gaulle, 27 per cent for leftist Francois Mitterand, 6 per cent for rightist Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour, 1 per cent for centrist Jean Lecanuet, and 3 per cent for two minor candidates.

Le Monde gave De Gaulle 47 per cent if the decided voters, Mitterand 29, Lecanuet 14.5 and Tixier-Vignancour 8.

Few doubt that De Gaulle will be re-elected, but some question whether he will get a majority in the first round of balloting Sunday. It will be the first time that Frenchmen choose a president by popular vote, and some observers think De Gaulle will quit if he is forced into a runoff.

Tuesday night's television speech was De Gaulle's first address to the public since he announced Nov. 4 that he was available for another term.

Agricultural Program End Seen by Farm Union Head

Day When Subsidies Unneeded

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — James G. Patton, retiring president of the National Farmers Union and a militant battler for strong government farm aid, predicted today the end of big federal agricultural programs.

"I believe that we have seen the last of legislation authorizing government programs to stabilize farm commodity prices and supplies," Patton said in an interview. He referred to the 4-year farm bill enacted this year which authorizes broadened government payments to supplement farm income.

Patton said he foresees the day when farmers will be able to go it alone with little or no subsidies or government assistance. "In time farmers will be able to bargain effectively for adequate and stabilized prices for their products," he said.

Farm Bargaining
In a significant statement of his views of the future, Patton predicted that farm bargaining will be carried on by cooperatives able to control sufficient supplies to obtain farm returns which no longer would need to be supplemented, as now is the case for some commodities, by government payments. Patton and former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, now general counsel of the Farmers Union, have been strong advocates of payment programs.

A rival farm organization, the American Farm Bureau Federation, long has fought government farm programs. It has been promoting farm bargaining cooperatives.

25 Years in Post
Patton made it clear, however, that he has no intention of retiring as a farm leader, although he said that under no circumstances would he accept a new term when his present one expires in March. He has headed the Farmers Union for 25 years.

He said he expects to devote his time to international agricultural development, the promotion of the farm bargaining cooperative movement, the establishment of a broad American food-for-peace program, "the creation of a world land bank offering easy credit to poor farmers, and the promotion of programs to end poverty wherever it might exist in this country."

U. S. Hardens Policy on Surplus Food

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has hardened its policy on the disposal of surplus food, largely due to dwindling reserves of wheat stocks and other edibles and a mounting supply of foreign currency that cannot be used.

U.S. authorities, making this known today, said the new policy will affect India, Pakistan, the United Arab Republic and about seven other countries designated as currency-excess countries by the U.S. Treasury. The designation means the United States has accumulated far more local currency from those countries than it can possibly use in the immediate future.

The new policy, already in progress, is to receive virtually all payments later in dollars rather than in rupees and dinars. Among the other excess currency countries are Ceylon, Burma, Guinea, Israel, Poland, Tunisia and Yugoslavia.

Coming under this policy will be the proposed sale of $55 million worth of food to the United Arab Republic. The State Department announced Tuesday that President Johnson had approved such a sale and that talks would open in Cairo within two weeks on the terms.

Parents' World

How Differences Are Settled More Vital Than Argument

BY DR. EVE JONES
Dear Readers: Yesterday's column continued the discussion of the kinds of differences between you and your husband that aren't important to your child and that are best settled by tossing a coin.

In addition to that kind of argument, many parents argue about the basic, important matters of taking care of a child: eating, sleeping, toileting, discipline, sex education, play, chores, school, and manners. These are the matters that determine how healthy and happy your child can become. So decisions about such matters are too important to be decided by chance.

Most professional child care experts recommend specific ways of dealing with these matters, and they consider the other ways to be wrong because they are likely to produce neurotic problems for your child. They believe, for example, that a child should not be forced to eat or bribed to eat, but should be allowed to decide himself how much he wants at mealtimes. They also believe that he shouldn't be trained to use the toilet or punished for his angry feelings or deceived about the facts of life.

Once most parents are acquainted with these views, they find putting them into practice relatively easy. But some parents object to taking care of their children this way because they want to make up to themselves for the hard times they had during unfortunate childhoods of their own.

Neither you nor your husband has the right to pass along such neurotic problems to your child. You have the obligation to control yourself and keep yourself from letting your neurotic feelings and ideas influence the way you treat your child. You have the responsibility to inform yourself about modern, healthy methods of child raising — just as you acquainted yourself about modern, healthy methods of nutrition — and then to abide by them, however you may feel inwardly about them.

To make certain what these good methods are, rely on a good book by an acknowledged authority on child development. Your local library has many such books, and I'll be happy to recommend them by name if you write to me asking for their titles.

You don't need to fear that books about child development will prevent you from exercising your own independence and initiative as a parent. Such books serve as good cookbooks do — they tell you what the basic ingredients are that are necessary for good results. Then, if you like, you can improvise on the basic recipe to suit your particular taste.

Tomorrow's column discusses what to do if you can't control yourself enough to follow the suggestions of the experts without becoming terribly uncomfortable.

"I think I'll make up with Alvin. I always get an empty feeling when I'm not in love with someone!"

ing your own independence and initiative as a parent. Such books serve as good cookbooks do — they tell you what the basic ingredients are that are necessary for good results. Then, if you like, you can improvise on the basic recipe to suit your particular taste.

Smog Making Strong Return In California

Legislature Votes Down Pollution Control for Autos

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Smog, after a decade of quiescence, is making a strong comeback in Southern California.

And, as the famed sunshine is dimmed and eyes start burning, the outcry to "do something" rings anew.

Recently, however, the State Legislature voted down a bill requiring exhaust controls on pre-1966 automobiles, among the chief sources of smog.

Additionally a group of oil producers and users in Los Angeles is challenging the right of counties to regulate air pollutants from industry, as authorized by the state's basic Air Pollution Act of 1947.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, in the wake of a sharp smog attack in Los Angeles in October, called a special session of the legislature for next February to study proposals for controlling pollution.

Worst In 50s
A timetable of smog alerts — warnings that pollution is approaching the danger level — tells the story of smog's resurgence.

Smog was at its worst in the late 1940s and early 1950s. Los Angeles and the State of California then pioneered control programs.

In 1955, first year the local air pollution control district began monitoring pollutants, there were 15 first-stage alerts — warnings to smog-producing industries to shut down if smog got much worse.

Control measures — special equipment in factories and a ban on backyard refuse burning — improved matters and the following year there were but 10 alerts. Each year thereafter the number dropped until there was only one in 1962.

Then, as industries and autos multiplied, smog increased. There were three alerts each in 1963 and 1964 and so far this year there have been six.

Constant Growth
During periods of no wind a vast mass of polluted air extends from the Mexican border to north of San Francisco and inland to Las Vegas, Nev.

Experts give this reason for the increase, despite control efforts that have cost industry here $130 million: Every day there are 500 new people in Los Angeles County; every week 3,000 new cars; every year nearly 1,000 new industries.

Heading the agenda at the special legislative session in February will be the question of what to do about air pollution given off by older cars.

The state already demands crankcase vent controls on all cars, and this year began requiring exhaust controls on new cars.

Not Enough
One attempt to extend this requirement to older cars was defeated by the California Legislature which adjourned early in November. Opponents pointed out that only one firm so far has developed such a device for older cars and said this would create a monopoly if the device passed state tests.

Competitive devices are expected soon.

Young Farmer to Be Honored by Kaukauna Jaycee

KAUKAUNA — David Friebe has been named general chairman for the third annual Jaycee sponsored Outstanding Young Farmer competition in the area, according to an announcement by the Kaukauna unit.

Jaycees will screen applicants, between the ages of 21 and 35, to ascertain the local winner. He will be honored at a January dinner which other farmers will be invited to attend. The local winner advances to state competition and the state winner is entered in the national Jaycee contest.

Entrants fill out information sheets giving the history of their farm, improvements made and other information on farming practices. Interested young farmers may contact the general chairman.

Newly-Designed Seal To be Put Into Use by Registration Board

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A new design for the seal required to be used by licensed architects, professional engineers and land surveyors has been approved by the Wisconsin Registration Board of Architects and Professional Engineers and will be put into use subject to a possible hearing if objections are received, the board has announced.

Each licensed practitioner will be required to use the seal on all drawings, plans and other documents prepared for clients. The seal will contain name, registration number and city.

Hortonville Musical Scheduled Dec. 12

The Hortonville High School music department will present its annual Christmas concert at 2 p.m. Dec. 12 in the high school gym. Featured will be the high school band, grade school honor band, girls' glee club, and concert chorus. The bands are under the direction of Ernest Broeniman and the choruses are under the direction of Kay Jacobson.

best now in sight won't whip the smog problem.

V. G. Mackenzie, chief of the Air Pollution Division of the U.S. Public Health Service, told a smog symposium here that it will take at least 10 years to control air pollution.

He said devices being installed on new cars in California now — and on cars throughout the country beginning in 1967 — will have to be improved because of an expected increase in the number of automobiles.

Industrial Plants
Controls also have been placed on such sources as industrial plants.

A law suit aimed at breaking these controls was filed against Los Angeles County recently by the Western Oil and Gas Association, which represents major oil companies.

The association seeks to invalidate regulations requiring the use of natural gas instead of oil during the bad smog months from April 15 to Nov. 15.

The suit challenges the right of the state to delegate policing action to the county's air pollution control district. If successful, it would wipe out more than 100 regulations controlling stationary sources of smog. It would have no effect on automobile smog control since this is policed directly by the state through its Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board.

Prodigal Son Finds Out He's 'Some Kinda Nut'

NEW YORK (AP) — Saloons

open all day long instead of decently closed 15 hours in 24. Private cars the size of pantechnicons. Rugby matches on the Sabbath. Race horses running counterclockwise. People running every damn which way.
We have made a prodigal's return from 17½ quiet years in England. It was assumed that adjustment would be difficult, but the reality is staggering.
The mind, in fact, boggles.
There is, for example, the effect on two London-born sons aged 8 and 9. The 9-year-old, whose broad A's were the pride of the household, pipes up with "what are you, Daddy, somekinda nut or something?" In the purest accents of Long Island—

this after one month in America.
There is the dizzying selection of programs on television, where in England you explored the only three channels, turned the thing off and went to bed.
There are other trials:
Bourbon and Rye
The agonizing indecision when confronted by a bar's 77 varieties of bourbon and rye after nearly two decades of no choice but the reality is staggering,
but scotch.
The nagging fear of injury when staggering away from the newsstand with a Sunday edition which outweighs the commonplace Sunday editions in Her Majesty's light little island.
The necessity to buy an automobile whether you want one or not because everybody else has one and the kids mustn't develop a feeling of inferiority.

True, there are compensations in living in America.
It is possible to buy a carton of cigarettes without first floating a bank loan—British price, 77 cents a pack.
"What's A Malted?"
You can go into a soda fountain and call for a chocolate malted milk and they serve you a chocolate malted milk. British reaction: "What's a malted milk?"
When it's cold outside you just pop inside somewhere and it's warm—central heating is the norm, not a novelty.
There are green vegetables the year around instead of nothing but brussels sprouts, the number of ice cream flavors seems unlimited, many highways outside urban areas were designed for the motor car rather than the horse and buggy and if you're bored on a Sunday afternoon there's the movies or pro-football. In England Sunday is for church, or you can take a nice, long nap.

Phony Sick Call
The way Americans dash around to earn the wherewithal for the affluent life is a little disconcerting. Still, look at our Gross National product.
If a working stiff in England doesn't feel like facing his job on a given day and makes a phony sick call to his employer, how does he spend the time off?
Sure, he may work in his garden. But more likely he'll sit around with his feet up in the morning reading the race form-and spend the afternoon in one of the 15,000 legal betting shops trying to root home a couple of winners. In Britain they run clockwise, but if you think that makes it easier to pick them you're some kind a nut or something.

Here, well. Two moonlighting hospital orderlies took twodays off to clean up our rented house, a moonlighting carpenter replaced a dud unit in the electric stove and a moonlighting postal employee drives us to our commuter train every morning in his moonlighting cab.
Everything is a little easier-going in England. Take students.
When English students are in a state of social ferment they are likely to work it off by drapping a pair of black nylon panties on one of the spires of Westminster Palace, the home of Parliament.
Here, they burn their draft cards.

Lowest Total of State Forest Fires in Decade Recorded During '65

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The year 1965 will go down into the record books of Wisconsin foresters as the time when the ancient war against the menace of forest fire was almost won.
With the risk season virtually over, the forest-fire burn in the state this year was less than 4,700 acres, far below the average in recent times, and likely to be the lowest in more than a decade of success in improving forest fire suppression and prevention, the state forestry division says. Through-mid-November, the number of forest fires reported in the protection zones was 1,506. In contrast, the state had 2,380 fires during 1964, for a total loss of about 15,000 acres.

Diamond Ring Found in Cake

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Jean Smiley, a housewife in western Australia, cut her daughter a slice of date cake she had bought at a chain store for 42 cents.
She noticed a sparkle in it. It was a diamond ring.
She told newsmen about it and now the ring is on its way back to a girl in Perth whose fiancé is at sea with the Australian navy.
The girl, Marilyn Carter, works in the bakery where the cake was baked. She had taken off her engagement ring and another ring her fiancé gave her and put them under a cup for safety.
"I'm hoping the other ring will also turn up in a cake," Marilyn said.

Rheumatic Fever Cure May Use Antibiotics

BY DR. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please tell me something about rheumatic fever in a small child. What is the treatment? What precautions should be taken afterwards? Will my young son grow out of it?—Mrs. C. D.

Rheumatic fever is caused by the streptococcus germ—the type which causes strep throat. It can make the child (or adult) tired, along with painful joints and tenderness of the abdomen in many cases.

But the most serious attacks occur when the illness inflames the mitral valve of the heart. Scar tissue forms, and the valve can become seriously damaged.

Worse yet, a child does not "grow out of" this heart damage, and he doesn't develop an immunity. He can get rheumatic fever over and over again, and in fact a patient who once has had it is more likely to get it again. And each time there is the likelihood of further damage to the heart.

Treatment basically involves antibiotics to suppress the strep germ, plus care to see that the heart is not overtaxed—it's not necessarily possible to tell immediately whether the heart is involved in a given case, so the best rule is to assume that it may be.

Precautions afterwards? Positively yes! Strep throat (well, let's say any sore throat) should be reported to your doctor at once. But better still, take steps to prevent any further attacks by the germ.

This, fortunately, can be done by giving regular injections (about once a month) of a longlasting, slow-release type of penicillin.

Doctors, nurses, everybody in the health professions, all are vigorously alert to the danger of rheumatic fever, and many organizations (health departments, American Heart Association, and other groups) have waged campaigns to so inform the public.

In spite of all this, we still have victims turned into invalids because of damage to their hearts. We still have deaths resulting from it, sometimes quite a few years afterward. But sometimes patients can be restored to health by heart surgery.

The one way we have of preventing this heart surgery is to try to discover every case of rheumatic fever the first time it occurs, and then see to it that the proper penicillin is given for at least several years.

Sad to say, some parents do not thoroughly understand why the drug is given. After some months they think that Johnny must be entirely over his rheumatic fever and they stop going back for the shots. Or they move to some other locality and don't find another doctor to continue them.

Yes, Johnny may be over his rheumatic fever—but he is in danger of getting it again any time he encounters the germ, which is quite common.

The penicillin, given in this manner, doesn't prevent him from picking up the germ, but combats it instantly, and subdues it before it can propagate and cause a new attack of the fever.

Penicillin is the only way to keep such a child safe.

Dear Dr. Molner: As time passes I notice a decrease in natural vaginal lubrication. Is this normal or could it be related to my having had a hysterectomy?—Mrs. O. S.

The secretions usually decrease with the years, and the answer is artificial lubricants or hormone therapy. The hysterectomy had nothing to do with it.

1/4 cup honey
1 tablespoon soft butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
Dash salt
4 oz. semi-sweet candy-making chocolate

Historic Hairdos Forerunners Of Beatnik, Beatles Styles

BY JOY MILLER

Women do not dress their hair to please men. Women will do the most ludicrous — even lethal — things for fashionable hair.

Men have been as silly as women over hairstyles.

Most coiffures of today have their historic counterparts.

These are a few of the conclusions forced upon Richard Corson after the personable young actor and monologist spent three years traveling through Europe and the United States gathering material for a book, "Fashions in Hair."

He had planned it as a slight volume to help theatrical producers get authenticity into their historical hairdos, a sort of companion piece to his "Stage Makeup," which is considered a definitive text on the subject. But he got so fascinated by his research he ended up with a 701-page book and 3,000 illustrations.

The 18th Century was the wildest for women, says the Illinois-born actor. "The precursor of the modern beehive developed then, and they were teasing hair, although they didn't call it that."

Seldom Washed

The enormous and preposterous headdresses, built into towering structures solidified by the use of pomatum and powder, sometimes went three months without being washed. "There is a horrible prescription for what they called 'opening the head.' When the mass of hair was broken open little vermin ran out," Corson says.

Of course, he points out, there was that news story in 1962 which told about the Ohio schoolgirl who didn't comb her teased, spray-plastered bouffant hair for several weeks and then found a thriving nest of cockroaches.

All sorts of events and spectacles of the day were reproduced on top of the hair in the 18th Century — naval engagements, gardens of the royal palace, meadows with sheep.

Marie Antoinette had to dismantle her hairdo to get into a carriage, and then reassemble it again when she arrived at her destination.

One obliging soul invented a hairdo that collapsed when a corson after the personable young actor and monologist spent three years traveling through Europe and the United States gathering material for a book, "Fashions in Hair."

Holiday Giving Should Reflect Child's Interest

A well-designed gift for a child, whether given at Christmas or anytime, is a well-planned gift. Choose good design in a gift that reflects a child's interests and needs.

Listen for hints of what he wants. You may be able to select a gift that will further a current interest. Gifts of books or pictures for example, are usually enjoyed for a longer period of time than toys and may even stimulate new interests.

A child's gift doesn't have to be something purchased across a counter. You may give something more personal like a hand knit sweater. Your child may be interested in a promise of enjoyment to come like tickets to a certain movie or art museum.

Some gifts can encourage the interest in collecting that children have. Something like a starter set of rocks, shells or perhaps a book of information on the subject. This may initiate a hobby that finds its way into the home as a decorative arrangement.

Family traditions at Christmas may add meaning to the child's concept of the holiday and thus be one form of gift-giving. This may be the way the house and Christmas tree are decorated.

A child may enjoy a simple family project such as buying a manger scene with just the basic figures and adding something extra to it each year — the wise men, angels, or other figures. This kind of repetition may help him to understand the meaning of Christmas as well as help him understand the simplicity of a basic design.

Christmas Spectaculars

For Entertaining During the Holidays

BY LILLIAN MACKESY

Post-Crescent Food Editor

Festive . . . beautiful at first sight . . . delicious. These are the three ingredients any hostess strives for in her recipe for holiday entertaining. Add to these three one other descriptive ingredient . . . spectacular . . . and the formula will fit the recipes for today. Although any one of the special party foods may be served at a sit-down meal, they were picked especially for the buffet service which seems to fit the holiday mood best.

There's an interesting new fruit cake that is a blending of chocolate, raisins, spices, candied fruits and nuts. The newsworthy part of this recipe is its easy preparation called the one-bowl method. Start by sifting the fragrant combination of cocoa, cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves with other dry ingredients into the mixing bowl. Eggs, sour cream, butter and flavoring go in all at once, then the raisins, candied fruits and nuts. No trouble at all and a simply beautiful result.

Another is the buffet salad in the shape of a tree ornament. This one, too, is simple to make and the recipe is expandable, taking to multiplication with ease to serve more people. This jewel-like salad blends orange and tomato for a most provocative taste. It's molded in one large bowl for its ornamental look, but adapts to smaller individual molds, if preferred.

Then there's a striking salad that sports a brilliant red poinsettia cut "free hand" from a sheet of cranberry gelatin. This one has a luscious combination of canned salmon flakes, crunchy walnuts and cool grapes . . . topped with a blanket of sour cream.

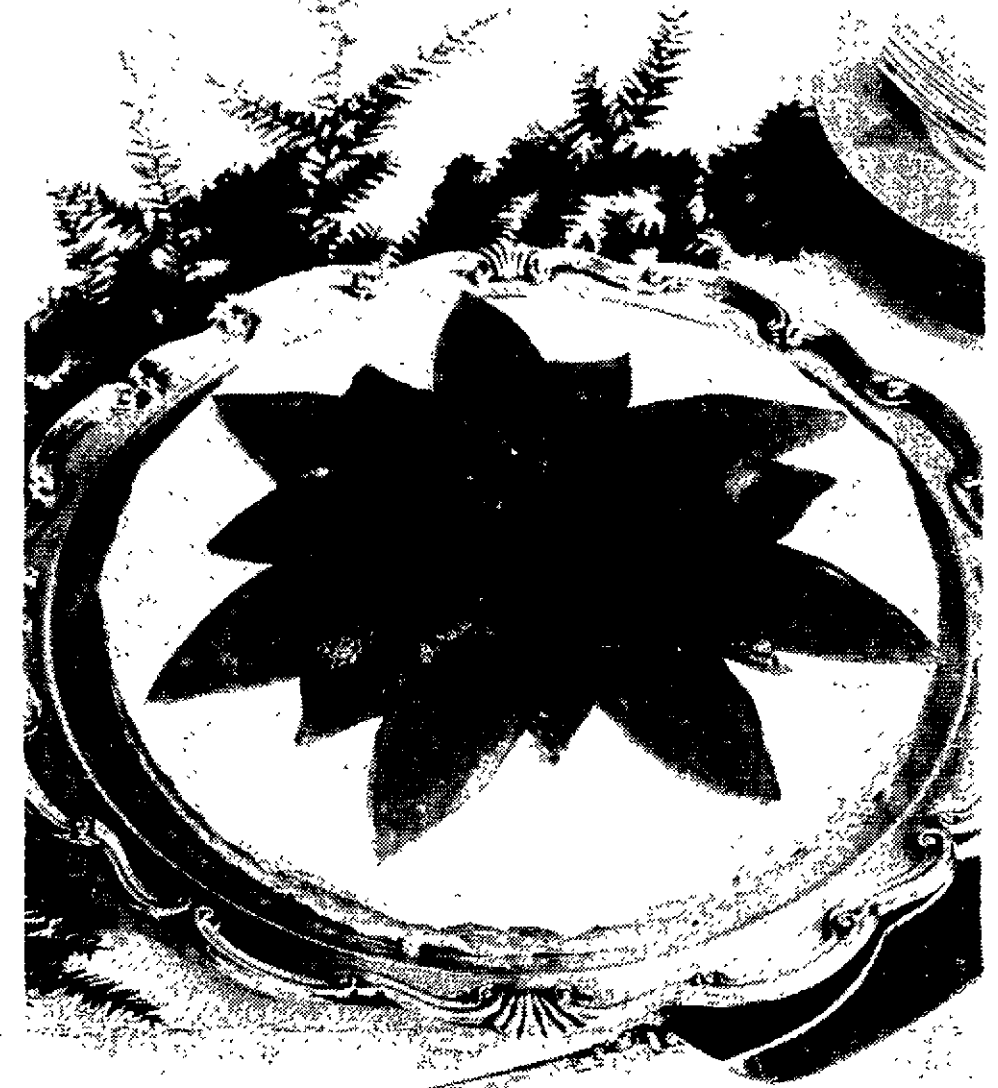

Festive, tasty and easy to eat out-of-hand for the younger crowd is the bean pie, all dressed up for the holidays with pastry cut-outs in bell shapes. Depending on the age of the party-goers, the pastry could be jolly fat Santas . . . or other well-known characters for other times of the year.

One other Christmas sweetmeat is a delightful Christmas tart. This recipe comes from Oregon country and features two of its greatest products . . . filberts and cranberries. Both

Norwegian Play Still Discussed

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When bridge players gather for a tournament the early arrivals usually sit around discussing the best hands they have seen. They still talk about a hand played in the 1933 European Championships by Johannes Brun, a member of the Norwegian team that year.

West opened the king of diamonds and stopped short when East dropped the queen. South obviously had the rest of the diamonds and would be delighted to ruff one or two of them in dummy. To stop this, West shifted to a trump.

East took the ace of trumps and returned a trump. South was now limited to nine tricks: five trumps and the four top cards in spades and clubs. There were not enough entries to the dummy to set up and cash a long card in either black suit.

Brun did not say die. He took the second round of trumps with the king and continued with the jack of hearts to draw East's last trump. He had to discard a spade or a club from dummy on the third trump and wisely chose to throw a club on the theory that if either opponent had five or more spades he would have entered the bidding with a spade bid.

GOES AFTER SPADES

Brun next went after the spades by taking the ace and king and ruffing a spade. Then he returned to dummy with the king of clubs and led another spade. East played the queen, and declarer discarded a diamond.

East had only clubs left and had to lead one of them to dummy's ace. This put Brun back in the dummy so that he could cash the tenth trick—the last spade.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S Q 10 7 6; H A 9 3; D Q; C J 19 8 3. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs. The hand is too strong for a raise to two spades but not quite strong enough for a jump to three spades. Bid a side suit first and raise spades at your next turn. (Copyright, 1965)

Calendar Towels Never Out of Date

Linen or terrycloth dishtowels, imprinted with various 1966 calendar designs, make decorative and practical holiday gifts. Although the design goes out of date at the end of the year, the towels will dry dishes for decades. The fabrics are virtually indestructible through endless use and laundering in hot suds.

Doll Accessories Used to Teach Skills

New doll accessories include play sets of miniature furnishings for a bedroom, kitchen, schoolroom, and beauty shop. Today's doll-about-town can even have her own sports car complete with luggage rack. These pieces are made with realistic details. For example, the beauty shop sink actually holds water for shampooing dolly's hair, and all of the sets have washable pieces to help young owners learn homemaking skills while they play.

These Frozen Desserts from baker shop and refrigerator case not only are tremendous timesavers during a busy holiday, but they are outstanding in flavor and freshness. Illustrated are a few examples, starting at the top: frosted spice cake and pound cake on the pedestal server; frosted chocolate cake (two cakes stacked to form a two layer cake); cherry pie; wedges of pineapple-topped cheesecake, and apple pie.

Women's Walk Never Done

NEW YORK — The evidence is accumulating that woman's "walk" is never done, to paraphrase an old saying.

In his book, "Walk And Be Happy," Benjamin Kauth, Pod. D., says that the modern homemaker walks about eight and three-quarter miles a day, somewhat more than most men do — a distance about that of a cross-country race! He also states that women suffer foot troubles in a ratio of about five to one over men.

Pedometers have been used to clock the mileage women walk. But this instrument does not register the infinitude of chores a woman performs standing still. And it doesn't register poor posture, shortened calf muscles from too high heels, corns, calluses and blisters — all of which add to her foot miseries.

Weight Lifter

Want to prove your feet take an awful beating? Consider this: during her eight and three-quarter mile "hike" during the day, the housewife will take about 17,500 steps, depending of course on her individual stride. If this typical woman weighs 120 pounds, she lifts a total of 2,100,000 pounds during the day! It's no wonder, then, that her day often ends with a groan and, "My feet ache!" And everybody knows that "when your feet ache, you ache all over" — in the legs, the lower back, and sometimes even the head.

The foot is one of your body's most intricate mechanisms. "It is made up of 26 bones held in place with a network of muscles and ligaments. If these stretch, the bones are not held in their proper place and the foot is in for trouble. If you walk as much as the average woman, you bring down on your feet a daily load of several hundred tons!

If foot fatigue persists, or is unusually severe, you should consult your family physician or a podiatrist. For daily care, try these suggestions to help relieve most aches and pains resulting from foot fatigue: Whenever possible perform chores such as ironing, folding clothes, polishing silver, sitting down. Standing for long periods without moving slows blood circulation and increases fatigue.

Take A Break

Try to take a daily fatigue break, lying down with the feet elevated. This will ease the general aches and pains that start in your feet and move up the legs into your back. During the fatigue break promote blood circulation in your feet by flexing the toes for a minute or so; allow them to dangle for a while off the bed; then place them horizontally for a few

Bedtime Booties Warm Cold Toes

Boots are showing up to wear with everything — even with sleepwear. The newest kind of sleepwear-slipper sets feature boots to match or contrast with pajamas, gowns, and robes.

These bedtime boots — made of quilted cotton, flannelette, pile, or white vinyl — should be laundered right along with the garments they complement. The fabric foot-wear is machine-washable, and the plastics can be sponged off with suds.

Holiday Colors

Christmas floral arrangements emphasize basic green and red tones. However, pastels, used sparingly, are in good taste. White and gold tones, in combination, continue to prove popular.

French Theme Set for Calumet Christmas Fair

The annual Christmas fair of the Calumet County homemakers will be held on Monday evening at the Brillion High School gym. The fair will take on an international flair — France. A formal program will begin at 8:30 p.m. with the Chilton High School French club under the direction of Mrs. Karl Eichhorst, instructor, presenting "The Christmas Story" singing carols in French and English. Justin Warner, Brillion High School music instructor, will direct a short songfest of the carols of the season.

Display Planned

Exhibits with displays of Christmas ideas, wrappings, decorations, trimmings, and goodies, and display of the decorative stitches projects will begin at 7 p.m.

Public has been invited to attend. Cookies and coffee will be served from 7 to 9:45 p.m.

In charge of the arrangements are Mrs. Ezra Keuer, Rt. 1, Brillion, who will be mistress of ceremonies. Other committee members included Mrs. Everett Schwalbe, 121 Custer Street, Brillion; Mrs. Le Roy Bastian, Rt. 1, Brillion; Mrs. Barney Mullins, 128 Elm Street, Brillion; Mrs. Art Rusch, Jr., Rt. 1, Chilton. Rantoul Sunshine Club has charge of food arrangements and Alcott Happy Club, decorations.

Writer Defends Couple's Wish To Switch Husband-Wife Roles

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was offended by your cutting reply to the woman who wanted to be the sole breadwinner in the family while her husband kept house. You said she was "kooked up" and called her "Sir."

Surely you know many people are unsuited for the roles which society decrees they must play. Some men don't belong in the business world and some women don't belong in the home.

In Australia, for example, certain aborigine tribes practice complete reversal of the roles as we know them. The women do the hunting, make the tribal decisions and run the family. The men stay home, care for the children, do the cooking and primp (like our women) so they will be attractive to their wives. According to anthropologists they are reasonably content. Personally, I believe the lady who wrote will be happier (and so will her husband) if they do what comes naturally and are not concerned with what others think.—Interested Reader

Dear Interested: If these people lived in the Australian bush they would have no problem, but in Hartford if they changed roles they might well be considered peculiar.

I entered no judgment as to whether it was right or wrong. I did say they are bound to be considered odd-balls—and believe me, they would be.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 20-year-old girl who lives with my married sister and her husband. I have a good job in a bank.

My sister is wonderful to me but I hate her husband. He calls my sister "stupid" and "ignorant." If he doesn't feel like going out he makes her cancel plans at the last minute. If he wants to go out, she has to go no matter how tired she is.

My sister is a beautiful girl. If she left this ox she could marry a man who would treat her like a queen. The vice president of the bank has asked me questions about her. When I told her, she said, "Forget it. Bill is a good father. That means a lot to me."

How can I save my sister from throwing away her life on this rat?—Standing By

Dear Sis: If you were "Standing By" it would be lovely, but you are actively trying to break up your sister's marriage which is quite a different ball of wax.

Move. You'll all be better off.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the woman whose neighbor's child was cruel to her little puppy brought back memories. I hope that child's mother will get busy before it's too late.

Parents need to instill in their children love and compassion for all living things. When our five sons were very young I taught them to treat pets lovingly. If I heard a squeal or a yip I picked up the furry creature and snuggled him. Then I'd say "Nice Kitty" or "Nice Puppy" and guide the child's hand to pet the animal gently.

For 17 wonderful years we had stray cats and dogs on our porch from all over town. Our boys walked to school like shepherds in the midst of a flock. At times I questioned the wisdom of my teaching (for example when I had to wade through the flock to get to my clothes line) but I know now I was right.

Today, each of our five sons is a wonderful husband and father. They are respected by their colleagues and deeply concerned with the lot of their fellow man. The early teaching paid off.—Detroit Mother

Dear Mother: What a heartwarming letter! Do you have a snapshot of your boys walking "like shepherds in the midst of a flock?" I hope so! (And if you do, I'd love to see it.)

Are you at war with your parents? Do they have too much to say in your life? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Food Deserves Dignified Settings, Designer Claims

Haphazardly set tables are as bad as sagging petticoats, says interior designer, James Merick Smith of Coconut Grove, Fla., one of the winners in a national table setting competition.

The only man among 11 women regional finalists had a winning table as different as a man's must be when he's in a woman's territory.

"Anything that occupies as much of our time as creating food deserves a dignified setting, but our eating habits seem to be among the inflexible things of our existence," says Smith.

Refreshment Thoughts
Homemakers worry about the appearance of furniture, draperies and serving table in the dining room when actually what the diners focus on is the table, already set, is this Floridian's argument. But we seldom vary our settings.

His winning table was a delightful combination of colors — apricot silk cloth trimmed with beige and sulphur yellow roughing, tall-stemmed vase line glass wine goblets, and white candlesticks with apricot candles. A low centerpiece of yellow daisy mums was in a white container. Vivid Bristol blue covered bowls were on turquoise bordered plates, ideal for soup, chicken or seafood salad, he says. "One tip I learned early is 'candlesticks high, flowers low.'"

Another is to consider something different.
Skirt A Table
"A Seminoole skirt is a delightful table cover. These Mexican wrap-around skirts of little pieces of cloth woven into a herring bone design can be great conversational pieces. And almost any combination of flowers can add to the fiesta look."

Dinner guests can share travel reminiscences as you discuss the origin of some of your table appointments, he says.
Whet Appetites
He thinks colorless tables are as bad as colorless food — he loses his appetite when he faces all-beige food, he says.

Food colors should be chosen too.

"Balance the brown of meat with greenery of food. Experiment so that people can enjoy foods they don't get in restaurants," he adds.

For instance — he sautes mandarin orange slices in brown butter, adds them to one-half inch thick sauteed zucchini with blanched almonds. For a large party — about 30 people — he takes a dozen bunches of water cress, a couple of pints of blueberries, and about a cup of prepared seasoned bread stuffing, mixing all together for a salad.

For a colorful dessert that takes 5 minutes to prepare try this: Mix green grapes, halved apricots, minted pineapple. Lace it all with cognac. Freeze, remove when it is slushy.

Carving the Holiday Turkey

Step 2

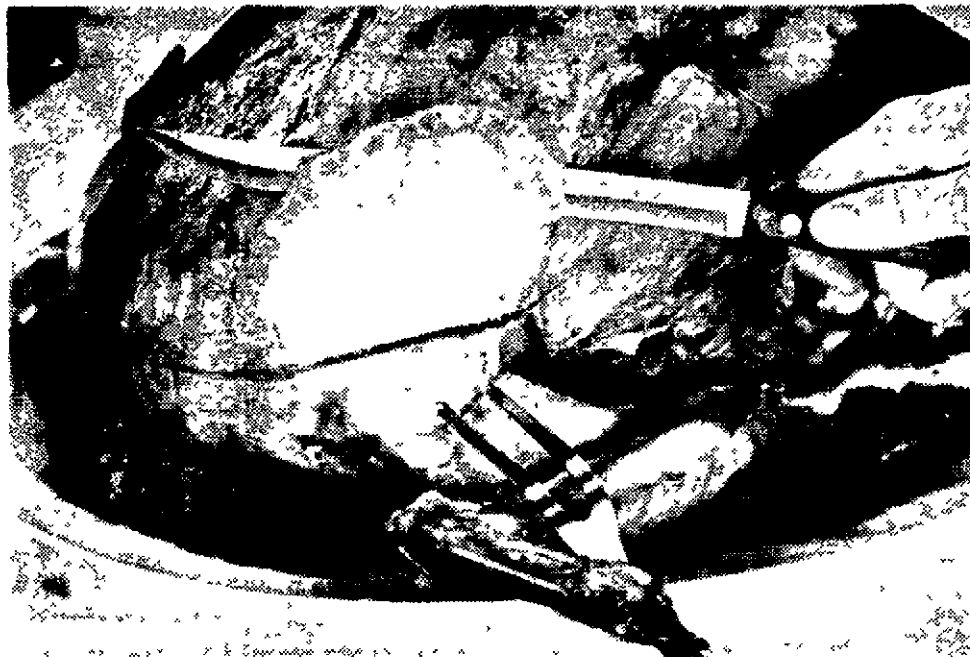

Whether you plan to serve the Christmas bird for the holiday dinner or buffet entertaining, you'll want to brush up on carving techniques. Nothing is more unappetizing than a hacked-up fowl. With a little care and planning plus the proper tools, the job can be done in style.

The first order of battle, according to the experts, is to have the right carving equipment . . . a poultry knife and a two-pronged fork. Be sure the knife is sharp. Run the cutting edges over a sharpening steel a few times to insure sharp edges.

Now, place the turkey so that one drumstick is to the carver's right, get ready to remove that entire joint with the knife. Follow the accompanying pictures, starting with Step 1. When one side of the turkey is sliced evenly and beautifully, repeat this same procedure on the other side of the bird.

Step 4

STEP ONE in carving the turkey is to place the knife between the thigh and body and slash through the skin to the joint.

STEP TWO is to press the turkey leg outward with the knife and cut through the joint to separate the leg from the body.

STEP THREE is to remove the wing by inserting the fork firmly into the upper wing and making a long deep cut parallel to the wing joint deep into the breast.

STEP FOUR will produce uniform slices of white meat. Begin halfway up the breast and make straight even knife strokes down to the first incision.

Women Change More Than Anything Else

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Everything changes in this world — but nothing changes more than women.
Compared to the variability of women, chameleons are rank amateurs.
Clouds change endlessly. So do waves upon the sea, and colors on the landscape. But none change more than women's moods.
Many things make surface changes in women — such things as cosmetics, hairdos, hats, eye makeup, girdles and different skirt lengths.
But none affects the inner girl. Inside she is still the same — that is, until she marries. Then she seems to explode in all directions.
"Is this the same sweet girl I courted?" her wondering husband asks. "I feel like I'm living with a total stranger."
He has made the discovery

Pair Weds In Double Ring Rite

CHILTON — Ralph F. Schmid, Ripon, claimed Miss Jeannie Marie Ecker as his bride at 1 a.m. Saturday at St. Mary Catholic Church, Stockbridge. The Rev. William Wilinger performed the double ring ceremony.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem J. Ecker. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schmid.
Sisters of the bride served as her attendants. Mrs. Thomas Thilman was maid of honor, and Mrs. Bennett Burg and Miss Jannette Ecker, bridesmaids.
David Schmid, Huntington, Long Island, N.Y., a brother of the bridegroom acted as best man. Groomsmen were Daniel and Paul Schmid. Ushering duties were performed by Paul J. Ecker and Donald Sattler.
The newlyweds were honored at a reception at Steffen's Hall, Quinney.
Mr. Ecker, a graduate of Wisconsin State University-River Falls, is employed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The couple will reside at Green Lake.

Trailer Parks

Modern mobile home parks provide many special cleanliness facilities — such as showers, coin laundries, and salon-type hair dryers.

that all husbands make sooner or later: nothing seems to change a girl more than marriage.

Before marriage she liked to walk miles with you. After marriage her arches begin to break down if you can't get her a cab within half a block.

Once she said, "I want you to stay just as you are. I don't want you ever to be any different." But when the glory of the honeymoon fades, she says, "In the name of high heaven, aren't you ever going to grow up?"

Before marriage she murmured anxiously, "If you really don't like my cooking, please tell me." After marriage she barks, "If you don't like the way I burned your TV dinner, go out in the refrigerator and thaw out another one. Then you can burn it any way you like it."

Before marriage she exclaimed prettily, "Oh, how did you know it was my birthday?" After marriage she storms, "How could you forget it was my birthday? After all, it comes only once a year."

From Your Family

There was a time when she thought your relatives were charming. Now, if one of the kids even develops a runny nose, she remarks, "It must come from your side of the family. My family was always healthy."

In the sweet long ago she loved to hold hands with you. Now all she puts in your hands are dishes to be dried.

Before marriage she wrinkled her nose prettily and made a face when you had her take a taste from the beer in your glass. Now she insists on mixing the predinner martinis herself because you don't make them dry enough.

Remember how happy she said she'd be when the two of you had a little apartment of your own? Now, unless you take her out at least two nights a week, she wails, "This isn't a home — it's a prison."

She used to plan about how she'd help you carry out your life's dreams. Now all she wants you to carry out is the garbage.

An ancient proverb warns girls, "Don't marry a man to reform him. You'll never be able to change him."

Bachelor's Note

An opposite warning might be given to young bachelors.

"Don't marry a girl if you expect her to stay the same. Marriage will change her more than anything. And nothing you can do will stop it."

Festive Foods for Christmas Holidays

match the season in this traditional dessert. Here are the recipes.

CHOCOLATE RAISIN CHRISTMAS CAKE

2 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup cocoa
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cloves
2 lightly beaten eggs
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup melted butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 1/2 cups California seedless raisins
2 cups diced mixed candied fruits
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Resift flour with sugar, cocoa, soda, salt and spices. Blend in eggs, sour cream, butter and vanilla; beat smooth. Stir in raisins, candied fruits and nuts, mixing well. Sprinkle sides of well greased 9-inch tube pan with sliced nuts, if desired. Spoon in batter. Bake in 300-degree oven about two hours, until cake tests done. Cool in pan 10 minutes, then turn out on rack. When cool, carefully wrap in foil or plastic. Store in cool place for several weeks to ripen. Frost cake before serving if desired. Makes tube cake about three and one-half pounds.

HOLIDAY BEAN PIE

2 tablespoons fat
1 pound ground chuck beef
3/4 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped onion

1 (21 oz.) can pork and beans with tomato sauce
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper to taste

In the fat, cook all ingredients except beans and seasoning for about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in beans and seasoning and mix thoroughly. A few of the canned beans can be set aside before mixing and used to add to the design later. Turn into a nine-inch pie pan lined with unbaked pastry. Top with bells or other designs cut out of pie dough or use a plain top crust. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, until pie crust is done, about 30 minutes. Beef gravy also may be served with the pie. Recipe makes six servings.

CHRISTMAS ORNAMENT SALAD

2 (3 oz.) pkgs. orange flavor gelatin
2 1/2 cups hot water
2 (8 oz.) cans tomato sauce
2 tbs. lemon juice
2 cups grated carrots
1 (13 oz.) can crushed pineapple, drained
Cream cheese for garnish
Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Stir in tomato sauce and lemon juice. Chill until thickened but not set. Fold in grated carrots and pineapple. Turn into 1 1/2 quart smooth round mold or bowl. Chill until set. Unmold and decorate with cream cheese put through pastry tube to resemble a Christmas ornament.

SALMON POINSETTIA SALAD

5 envelopes plain gelatin
3 1/2 cups cranberry cocktail

1 pound canned salmon, drained and flaked
1 pound creamy cottage cheese
1/2 cup broken walnuts
2 cups halved green grapes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups commercial sour cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Soften gelatin in 1 1/2 cups of the cranberry cocktail. Stir over hot water until gelatin is dissolved. Combine with remaining cranberry cocktail. In mixing bowl combine salmon, cottage cheese, walnuts, green grapes and salt. Stir in half-cup of the cranberry gelatin, one cup of the sour cream and the lemon juice. Pour mixture into a 10-inch round mold and chill until firm.

Pour remaining cranberry gelatin into a 10 1/2 x 15 1/2-inch shallow pan and chill until set. To serve: unmold salmon salad onto serving platter and frost top with remaining sour cream. Cut "free-hand" petals from cranberry gelatin and arrange on top in the form of a poinsettia. Garnish center with some sprigs of parsley. Keep cold until ready to serve. Recipe serves about 15 persons.

OREGON CHRISTMAS TART

1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup granulated sugar
3 egg yolks
1 cup toasted, finely chopped filberts
1 1/4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 cups fresh cranberries
1/2 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar

3 to 4 teaspoons grated orange peel
1/2 cup orange juice
Whole filberts

Cream butter and granulated sugar until light and fluffy. Stir in egg yolks, chopped filberts, flour and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Mix well. Chill dough about 1 1/2 hours or until firm enough to handle.

Meanwhile, combine cranberries, brown sugar, orange peel, orange juice, and remaining 1/4 teaspoon salt in medium saucepan. Bring to a boil and simmer, uncovered, 10 to 15 minutes, until mixture is thick as jam. Cool.

Set aside about half-cup dough. Press remaining dough against bottom and sides of a 9 1/2 inch tart pan or 9-inch cake pan. Spread cranberry mixture over dough in bottom of pan. Roll out reserved dough to 1/4-inch thickness on floured surface. Cut into strips and arrange in a lattice pattern on top of cranberry mixture. Place a filbert in each square. Bake in 375 degree oven 40 minutes, or until browned. Serve warm or cold, with sour cream, ice cream or whipped cream, as desired.

Holly Sprigs

Here's how you can add "cheer" to the punch table this holiday season. Circle the small round or square table, covered with red or gold-colored tablecloth, with variegated holly. Place a sprig of holly and a white carnation in four or five of the cups that surround the punchbowl.

The fine flavors of filberts and cranberries get together in this lattice-topped Christmas tart. Serve it warm or cool topped with sour cream, ice cream or whipped cream.

Steady Pull To Remove Wallpaper

BY ROGER C. Whitman

Q: What is the best way to remove plastic-coated wallpaper?

A: In a word, pull. Work a sharp blade underneath so you can get a corner started. Then exert a steady pull, rather than a yank.

Q: Since our children have learned to skate, they use our sizeable basement floor as a rainy day rink. Is there any kind of paint which can stand up under roller skates? I've repainted twice, and I might just as well have saved the time, trouble and paint.

A: I suggest that you wait until the kids graduate to other sports before thinking of another attempt. I know of no paint (with one possible exception) which can repulse roller skates. The exception is enamel containing epoxy which will run a little over $20 a gallon. Ask your paint or hardware dealer, if interested. My suggestion is theoretical, because my only close experience with this type finish has been on the floor of one of my rental cottages on St. Croix, Virgin Islands. Four coats of black were used, and the concrete still looks almost like a mirror. And this finish is now five years old. But then my tenants aren't members of the roller skating set. Painting Okay, But Boy Wants To be Doctor

Senaka Senanayake,
14, Exhibiting Works
At About 40th Show

BY EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — "Painting's all right," says Senaka Senanayake, 14, "but it's only a hobby with me."

"When I grow up I want to do something serious. I would like to be a doctor and that's what I think I'll do."

He was speaking at an exhibition of his paintings. He can't be certain if this show is his 37th, 38th, 39th or 40th.

"I know I've had an awful lot of them," he said. "I've exhibited in America, Russia, Germany, Australia — many places."

His paintings sell for as much as $500.

'Gets Embarrassing'

"I'm always being told how good I am," he said, "and this gets embarrassing."

Sir Herbert Read, one of Britain's foremost authorities on modern art, has called it an amazing case of artistic precocity.

Nalini Senanayake, his mother, observes:

"At first we thought all this praise might go to his head, but we've discovered he's a modest boy."

Senaka began painting when he was six. He has never had a lesson.

Nephew of Minister

He is a nephew of Ceylon's prime minister, Dudley Senanayake.

Admitting to reporters that he has already earned a small fortune from the sale of his paintings, Senaka said with a twinkle:

"My dad is pretty mean with money. He only allows me two rupees (about 45 cents) a week. I spend that on going to the movies and on buying sweets. I love chocolate more than anything else."

Asked what he objected to most about painting, he replied:

"Having to wash all those brushes."

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

CAN TESTS DETECT WHICH PEOPLE ARE ACCIDENT-PRONE? YES ☐ NO ☐

No. Such tests may at some time be devised, but at present we still have none that are reliable. The best way to tell is from the record. Accident-proneness usually begins in childhood. The person who is always getting smashed and hurt; who is, or who regards himself as "unlucky;" or who had had many slight and perhaps a few serious accidents is accident-prone. The public should be protected against him.

Do weapons win wars?

Yes—No—

Yes, but only partly. Far more important is morale. One question that we ought seriously to try to answer is how the Viet Cong can stand up against the overwhelming military might of this country and still make real headway against it. Why don't we have guerillas in North Viet Nam making life miserable for its government and the Chinese? Knowing the answer to this could be a major breakthrough in our struggle with Communism.

Is the demand for servants:

Increasing—Decreasing—

Increasing. The reasons are that more families can afford them, and more wives work or would like to. Millicent McNamara, former president of Barnard College, explains it this way: "The absence of domestic help sounds like a very mundane thing to consider, but what on earth is the use of spending tremendous amounts of money on education if, when people get through, they can't leave home?" There is plenty of evidence suggesting that many a well-educated wife and mother is swamped with bringing up children without help. Whatever happened to Mary Poppins, anyway?

The ages of anxiety — from 2 to 6 years of age — and how to deal with children during this time, is just one of the many subjects discussed in the booklet, "Your Child's Emotional Health." New Sniper Teams

Marines Being Trained From Viet Cong 'Book'

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Taking a page from the Viet Cong's book, the U. S. Marines are training some of their Leathernecks in Viet Nam to be snipers. The aim is to keep enemy snipers outside effective range of Marine infantrymen. "Combat experience has indicated a requirement for the employment of sniper teams to deny the enemy movement through the area of operation," said Capt. Robert A. Russell of Vista, Calif., in charge of the 3rd Marine Division's sniper project.

"The Viet Cong have been effective against us," Russell said, "and now we are going to deny them the capability of getting so close to us."

Sniper Plan

The Marines plan a total of 92 snipers — 20 attached to each of the division's four regiments and 12 with the division's reconnaissance unit.

They are being equipped with the Model 70 30-caliber Winchester rifle, which has a range of 700-1,000 yards. Each rifle is fitted with a sniperscope.

The basic weapon used by Marine infantrymen, the 7.62mm M14 rifle has a range of up to 500 yards.

In action, each sniper will be deployed about 300 yards in front of the infantry unit's defense perimeter. This in theory will make the area 1,300 yards in front of the infantry no man's land for the Viet Cong.

Diplomats Still Call Plays in Viet Nam War

Fear Heavy Bombing Would Send Hanoi Into Peking Orbit

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON —The decision not to bomb Communist North Viet Nam's industrial complex around Hanoi and Haiphong, far from exposing weakness in pursuing the war, is grounded on a basic assumption of U.S. diplomatic strategy. The assumption: unlike the North Korea of a decade ago which took orders straight from Moscow, Ho Chi Minh's Hanoi regime is not a pure satellite of either Moscow or Peking. It is an expansionist, Communist regime — but largely an independent one.

Evans Novak

Based on this assumption, it is U.S. policy to convince Hanoi that the war is a hopelessly lost cause and that Washington never will let South Viet Nam fall to the Communists.

Would Turn to Peking

But to wipe out Hanoi's industrial potential with massive air raids might be overconvincing. If crippled as an independent power, North Viet Nam would be forced far more than today to turn to Red China as source of its war power. And this means Peking would be vastly more influential in calling the signals than Hanoi. The war then would drag on without hope of cessation.

Accordingly, in this strange kind of war, escalated bombing could prolong rather than end the fighting.

In short, the U.S. objectives are twofold: (1) to keep Hanoi's government independent and as free of Chinese control as possible; but at the same time (2) to make sure Hanoi understands the U.S. is in South Viet Nam until North Viet Nam agrees to get out and keep out.

So far, Washington has been less successful in the second goal than the first.

Expect U.S. to Give Up

A foreign diplomat recently reported confidentially to the State Department on talks with high North Vietnamese officials. His report: Ho Chi Minh still feels that, despite victories by American troops, the Americans will follow the course of the French in 1954 and eventually give up.

Thus, operating on the assumption of Hanoi's independence, U.S. policymakers believe military actions alone won't erase this erroneous impression in Hanoi. Diplomatic efforts are also needed.

An unpublicized example of this came in Paris recently. U.S. Ambassador Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen urged top French officials (including Maurice Couve de Murville, the Foreign Minister) to stop their public sniping against U.S. policy in Viet Nam. The result has been a sudden drop in the drumbeat of criticism by Paris officials that the Americans couldn't possibly save Viet Nam from Communism.

Moreover, prominent French journalists have taken to writing more realistically about Viet Nam. Several have pointed out that the situations of 1954 and 1965 are not analogous and that the vastly superior U.S. economic underpinning can carry a war burden that broke the back of the French. To some extent, this same new reality is taking hold in French official circles.

What French officials and journalists say is of no interest in Peking and Moscow, but is highly important in French-speaking Hanoi. Here again, U.S. policy underscores the independent nature of the Hanoi government.

Misread Demonstrations

However, the State Department fears that misreading of events on the U.S. home front continues to mislead Hanoi into thinking Americans will eventually throw in their chips as the French did. Noisy demonstrations like last Saturday's (Nov. 27) peacenik march on Washington don't help. Nor do the carping of certain Democratic Senators for "negotiations" as an end in themselves.

Only the most naive U.S. critic of the war can assume Ho Chi Minh really wants negotiations. His pre-condition, that Viet Cong leaders be brought into the South Vietnamese government, is totally unacceptable.

ble. Indeed, a non-Communist government in Saigon is a minimum U.S. policy goal — particularly in view of the American blood spilled for that purpose.

Yet it is the hope of U.S. policymakers that Ho some day will withdraw his battalions from the south (in return for guaranteed territorial integrity of his own nation). Until that hope disappears, it's a fair bet the bombs will not fall on Hanoi. On this point all of President Johnson's civilian advisers — hawks and doves alike — are agreed.

Non-Members of C of C Asked to Consider Joining

KAUKAUNA — Letters have been sent to 220 potential members of the Chamber of Commerce by Norbert Rhiner, son, president of the Chamber, asking them to seriously consider joining in promoting the welfare of the city.

The letter explains the advantages of membership and benefits both to the individual and community of belonging to such an organization. The Chamber hopes to sign up at least one-third of the potential members, thus permitting it to continue with a full-time secretary.

If membership cannot be increased, it may be necessary to try to run with a part-time secretary which results in a far less effective organization, noted the president. Non-members are asked to reply by Dec. 10 and a meeting of the board of directors has been set for Dec. 13 at which time the board will consider what course to follow.

Talk of Get Together

U. S. Has Singular Role On International Scene

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson still walks a lonely road while the winds of cooperation, sometimes blowing from opposite directions, beat around his ears.

In the past few days there has been a burst of talk about various forms of international get-together. Meanwhile, Johnson must make the decisions on stepping up the war in Viet Nam. The picture isn't pretty there.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, just returned from Viet Nam, said, "It will be a long road ahead." He didn't say this country is winning. He just said, "We've stopped losing the war."

Valley Youth Elected to UW Student Body

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Michael Liethen, a University of Wisconsin junior student in liberal arts studies from Appleton, has been elected a Wisconsin Student Association representative in the student senate on the Madison campus.

Liethen, a candidate of the campus Student Rights party, defeated his two opponents for a seat representing a large dormitory district for one of ten elective senatorial seats. He won by about a four to one margin over an independent candidate, and by about a seven to one margin over a candidate of the Student Liberal Opposition party.

In his campaign, Liethen called for reappointment of senatorial districts to grant the dormitory areas another seat, and a Wisconsin Student Association public relations program in the student housing area to draw more students living in campus dormitories into WSA activities. He also endorsed student actions to win more student parking facilities, all-night study hours in the campus library, and dormitory visitation privileges for male students and coeds.

The Madison campus students also approved by a two to one margin a referendum on the ballot to limit student senate debates to subjects directly concerned with campus activities. In the past some student senators have used the WSA as a platform for debates on national politics and international relations.

Most Job Corpsmen To be Sent Home for Christmas Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Job Corps expects about 80 percent of its 16,000 members to spend this Christmas at home, with the government paying round-trip travel expenses.

A corps official said all corpsmen are entitled to transportation-paid home leave after six months service, and that this period will coincide with the holiday season for about half the membership.

Members with less than the required length of service have been offered advanced home leave over the holiday season, the official said, with the understanding that they will forego the time off after six months duty.

Nearly all of the 16,000 are still in training at various job camps around the country.

K of C Council To Hear Doctor

Members and wives of Father Fitzmaurice Council 607 Knights of Columbus will hear an Appleton doctor discuss Heart Association work and diseases related to the heart at an 8 p.m. meeting Thursday at the club house.

Speaker for the open meeting, to which the public has been invited, is Dr. Darrell Flette, a representative of the Heart Association.

Specialists Do Effective Work in Juvenile Problems

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Employment of a specialist officer in the sheriff's department is an effective method of dealing with the growing problem of juvenile law enforcement in Wisconsin rural districts, the Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare says.

The department's consultants in the division of children and youth reported that three studies in three rural counties, undertaken at the request of local law enforcement authorities, have demonstrated that such specialists can bring about improvements in dealing with juvenile offenders. The studies were made in Sauk and Richland Counties, and another is now underway in Crawford County.

The field surveys indicated, the report said, that there is an increasing realization "that merely designating a police officer to handle juvenile affairs is not sufficient. The value of studies in three rural counties, having a professional police officer, specially trained in handling juvenile problems, is slowly becoming accepted."

CALUMET CHEESE CO., INC., Hilbert, Wis.

This country has about 165,000 troops in Viet Nam. Reports say the number will go to 300,000. Will it? McNamara wouldn't say. That's Johnson's decision.

Rate of Infiltration

One of the reasons for this country's bombing of North Viet Nam since February was to reduce the flow of North Vietnamese soldiers into South Viet Nam. But McNamara says now they are tripling the rate of infiltration.

The bombing will be intensified, Johnson must decide how much and where. Critics want Hanoi, the Red capital, bombed. But this might bring Red China into the war. Johnson has to think of that, too.

This week the United Nations General Assembly, without one dissent, voted for a world disarmament conference no later than 1967, with Red China invited. The United States and the Soviet Union voted together on this.

But — while this country said it would be willing to sit down with the Chinese on preliminary negotiations, it refrained from saying it would take part in the conference itself.

Nuclear Weapons

And one day later the Soviet Union charged this country is flooding and endangering Western Europe with nuclear weapons.

Tuesday night French President Charles de Gaulle, appealing to his people to re-elect him by telling them they couldn't do without him, took a crack at the United States by calling the Vietnamese war "stupid."

And, while assuring this country and his European partners that France was a staunch ally, he warned France would cooperate with them only as she pleased.

A two-week Inter-American Conference at Rio de Janeiro ended Tuesday on a high note of far-reaching proposals which, if they ever became a reality, would transform Latin America into a new, modern and prosperous world.

Trade Restrictions

For instance: a great society for the hemisphere, a halt to inflation, better living conditions, land reform, and a reduction in trade restrictions. The United States took part in all this.

But this country, criticized for butting into the Dominican Republic's revolt to prevent a Communist take-over, wanted the conference to agree in the future all Latin America would join in such an intervention.

There was a lot of opposition and the United States shoved the idea aside.

Here in Washington a group of American specialists on foreign affairs recommended at the White House Conference on International Cooperation stronger efforts to get along with the Soviet Union. But some of the efforts proposed might damage this country's European alliances.

Changing Names Not Unusual in Industry

BY SYLVIA PORTER

One of the stocks which has tripled in price this year (and which we do not own) is SCM. "Just what does SCM make?" I finally asked a New York Stock Exchange official after months of watching the price jump all over the tape. "Why, it's old Smith-Corona," said he. "You mean typewriters are doing this?" "Wow, you are out of touch," he replied, "Smith-Corona merged with Marchant years ago to become Smith-Corona."

Porter

Marchant. Then the combined company moved into the business equipment fields of photocopying and data-processing and changed its name to SCM to get away from the former narrow identification.

Inspired by my own ignorance, I have now dug into name-changing by companies listed on the Big Board — have found that never before has there been such a rash of name-changing and symbol-changing by America's leading companies.

Just between January and October, 1965, 26 NYSE companies changed their names. In 1964, the number was 33. In 1963, 12.

10 Per Cent Change Over the past six years alone, one of every 10 companies on the NYSE has re-named itself, and several — such as SCM — have undergone two name changes in this short period. In many cases the new names indicate a complete transformation of the corporation.

Whatever became of Electric Boat Co.? It's General Dynamics. Or of ACF-Wrigley Stores? It's Allied Supermarkets. Or of American Molasses? It's Allegheny Power System. Or of Graham-Paige? It's Madison Square Garden Corp.

Of course, some company names are so deeply entrenched in the minds of consumers and investors the world over that it would appear no conceivable development could justify a name switch. Samples would be

American Telephone, General Motors, du Pont, Sears Roebuck. Of course, a company doesn't casually change a name which has served it to the point of qualifying it for listing on the Big Board, nor does it lightly assume the risks, difficulties and expenses involved.

Nevertheless, record numbers are finding a change is called for to give an accurate picture of the company's current operations and to suggest its hopes for the future. These companies will spend up to hundreds of thousands to find an appropriate name, clear it legally and publicize it.

Diversification The most important objective of a name change is to highlight the company's diversification into new lines, broader activities, new industries, new markets. This year Pepsi-Cola Co. became Pepsi Co., Inc., because this maker of a famous soft drink is, says Standard & Poor's, planning "further diversification through acquisition of a wholesale lessor of trucks and other vehicles." Thompson-Ramo-Woodridge became TRW Inc. in 1965 because its scope of operations has gone far beyond auto parts and the company is now active in missile systems, advanced space technology, electronics.

A second reason is to reflect a merger and to maintain in the new name the identities of each company. A third is to indicate a tie-in with a widely known brand of products. A fourth is the desire for a name which is clear, short, easily promotable and not restrictive. This desire helps explain the strong trend toward "initialed" names. SCM and TRW are examples, and this year Republic Aviation Corp. became RAC Corp., while National Vulcanized Fibre became NVF Co. A fifth reason is to change an image. An illustration of this is Cuban-American Sugar's shift to North American Sugar Industries.

While I was researching this story, I heard about an adverse development affecting a product incorporated in the name of a company we own. I called our broker to inform him and ask his judgment.

"It's not important," said he. "Your company has become so diversified that the product you're talking about now accounts for less than 10 per cent of its sales."

"That company should change its name," I remarked. (Copyright, 1965)

AMA Asked To Okay New Abortion Law

Liberalization of Sterilization Code Backed by Doctors

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Medical Association has been asked to approve a proposal for liberalizing abortion and sterilization laws throughout the country under certain conditions.

AMA's policy-making House of Delegates received such a report Sunday from the organization's Committee on Human Reproduction at the opening of AMA's 19th clinical convention. "It's an historic statement," said Dr. Percy E. Hopkins of Chicago, chairman of the Board of Trustees. He presented the report on abortion, contraception and sterilization, which the trustees had endorsed.

The report asked that the AMA go on record as recommending amendments to state laws concerning contraception, abortion and sterilization "so as to reflect medical conscience and public opinion."

AMA was requested to support "legislation which would permit abortion under certain conditions," and favor moves to "legalize voluntary sterilization under certain conditions." The report also called for the allowance of contraceptive information and uniform state laws regarding abortion and sterilization.

The action was urged at a time when various health officials have said that more than a million abortions are being performed illegally in the United States annually. All states except Louisiana allow "therapeutic" abortions under certain conditions, many of them varying from state to state, officials have said.

Lawrence Cagers to Open MC Season With Pair of Tilts

Vikings Entertain Carleton '5' Friday, St. Olaf on Saturday

The Lawrence University basketball team, dominated by underclassmen, opens Midwest Conference action this weekend with a pair of home games.

Coach Clyde Rusk will send his cagers to the Alexander Gymnasium floor against Carleton at 7:30 p.m. Friday and St. Olaf College invades the Lawrence court for a 1:30 p.m. contest Saturday.

Rusk, opening his third season as head mentor for the Vikings, is more optimistic than ever. Although not blessed with a lot of height or experience, Rusk bases his optimism on a group of fine sophomores and better overall depth than he has had on the squad in the previous two campaigns.

Stiff Tests

The two weekend foes should prove to be stiff tests for the Vikings. St. Olaf is one of the

Ruohonen, of Bobcats, Has Scoring Lead

GREEN BAY — Green Bay Bobcat veteran Ken Ruohonen, better known as a "digger" than a pointmaker, has forged into the United States Hockey League's individual scoring lead.

The 32-year-old wingman who appears to get better with age, has piled up 13 points in the Bobcats' first six games to take a one-point lead over linemate Paul Coppo in the USHL scoring race, according to latest figures released today by Publicity Director Bob Herdier of Waterloo, Iowa.

Ruohonen, a charter member of the Bobcats, has collected five goals and eight assists.

Coppo, runnerup in the league's 1963 scoring race with 81 points, has registered four goals and eight assists to rank immediately behind Ruohonen.

Brian (Duke) Dutkowski of Waterloo's Black Hawks, who invade the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena Saturday night to challenge the Bobcats, has slipped into a third place tie with Bob Cox of Marquette at 11 points.

Packers Second Defensively 49ers Lead NFL in Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Philadelphia ranks second to San Francisco in National Football League statistics for total offense but the Eagles still are struggling along with a 4-7 won-loss record because they have scored only 269 points to 290 by the opposition.

"Our offense has been productive but not productive enough pointwise," said Joe Kuharich, Philadelphia coach.

"We're getting good line play and good pass protection. Norm Snead has made a remarkable comeback. Pete Retzlaff is having a good year.

"What we are looking for is quality and balance so that we can properly mesh our pass and run game. We've been in every game for 50 minutes but we still can't call ourselves successful because we make mistakes at those crucial moments."

49ers Show Way

The defensive statistics tell part of the Eagles' problems. They rank seventh in total defense and 10th in the vital field

Papermakers, Kaukauna to Meet Friday; Two Rivers Will Invade Bluejay Court

MID-EASTERN CONFERENCE
(Final 1965 Standings)

Kimberly	11	3	Neenah	4	8
Menasha	11	3	Two Rivers	4	8
Clintonville	7	7	Shawano	5	9
Kaukauna	4	8	New London	4	10

BY TERRY GALVIN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

With a slight edge to Kimberly and Menasha, the co-defending champions, a fairly well-balanced Mid-Eastern Conference basketball race will get under way Friday with a full slate of games.

The openers send Kaukauna to Kimberly, Two Rivers to Menasha, Neenah to Shawano and New London to Clintonville.

Despite 1-2 non-conference marks, the Bluejays and Papermakers rate a slight nod over such possible contenders as Neenah, Two Rivers, Kaukauna and Clintonville.

Only Shawano and New London do not appear to have the necessary material for a good run at the M-E championship. In non-conference outings, M-E teams boast a mediocre 8-8 record through weekend contests, somewhat indicative of a "down" year in the loop.

Of the top 20 scorers during the 1964-5 season, only five are in uniform for Friday's openers. Two Rivers' E. J. Streu and Menasha's Don Steffin, both 6-2 and 2-year regulars, ranked eighth and ninth with 219 and 217 points, respectively, in the 14 conference games.

Kimberly guard John Reider was next in line (13th) with 160 points, one more than Clintonville backcourt man Pete Korb. The fifth returnee is Shawano's Ron Jesse, who was 20th with

Badgers Open Cage Season Biggest Problem Is Rebounding Against Nebraska

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin opens its 1965-66 basketball season against towering Nebraska tonight in a game that may turn on how well the Badgers are able to rebound.

"Our biggest problem will be to stay with Nebraska on the boards," said Coach John Erickson. "They're big and they're strong. We expect them to play a running game and their style will be similar to ours, except they're bigger."

The Cornhuskers' biggest is 6-foot-5 and several others 6-foot-3. The Badgers will be handicapped in height at an average of an inch per man.

Starting Lineup

Erickson will start 6-foot-3 Ken Barnes and 6-foot-5 Joe Franklin at the forwards, Keith Stelter, 6-foot-8, at center and 6-foot-3 Ken Gustafson and 6-foot-1 Mike Carlson at the guards.

The game will be the first basketball meeting between Nebraska and Wisconsin in nine years. The Badgers lead in the series 5-3.

Nebraska, 10-15 overall last season and 5-9 in the Big Eight, was not as bad as its record indicates. Three of its victories came over teams that finished ahead of the Huskers in the conference standings.

The Huskers almost upset conference champion Oklahoma State, finally losing 55-53.

The Badgers, 9-13 overall last season and 4-10 in the Big Ten, are expected to show improvement this season. They have a number of veterans back, including Barnes, who raked up 42 points in last season's finale against Indiana.

The Badgers also have two promising sophomores in Franklin and Carlson.

Nebraska is also a veteran squad with only one sophomore expected to start tonight—6-foot-5 Tom Baack, who scored 18 points in the Huskers' 105-62 win over the freshman team.

Omro Rallies in 4th Period To Defeat Dutchmen 79-77

Jerry Janssen Leads St. John With 23 Points

OMRO — Rallying for 28 points in the fourth quarter, the Omro High School basketball team edged Little Chute St. John, 79-77 in a non-conference game here Tuesday night.

The victory was the first for the Foxes after three straight setbacks while the Dutchmen now have a 1-2 record in non-loop play.

Jeff Stang, of Omro, dropped in a pair of free throws with three seconds left for the margin of victory.

Omro hit on eight of 13 shots in the final period and added 12 of 18 free throws in the quarter for 28 points, enough to offset a 16-point effort by the Chuters who had a 61-51 lead going into the final eight minutes of action.

Jeff Stang, of Omro, who led all scorers with 28 points for the night, had nine of his markers in the final stanza and Mike Engstrom added 25 markers, including 10 in the last quarter.

Jerry Janssen took scoring honors for the Chuters with 23 points on eight field goals out of 18 shots and seven of seven from the free throw line.

Sophomore Oscar Schuler had 19 points on nine buckets out of 15 shots from the field and a charity toss.

Omro won the game from the free throw line with 27 out of 38 while the Chuters were making 13 of 20. St. John was whistled to 16 for the Foxes. Schuler and Tim Hartjes fouled out, hurting the Chuter attack in the late minutes when Omro pulled out the victory.

St. John got off to a slow start with 10 points in the first period while Omro rolled in 18. The Dutchmen came back to trim the margin with 26 markers in the second quarter while Omro added 21 to hold a 39-36 halftime advantage.

The Chuters hit on 12 of 17 field goal tries in the third period and scored 25 points to take the lead as the Foxes managed only four buckets in the quarter.

Marquette '5' Opens Against Valparaiso

Warriors Have Height Advantage In Tonight's Game

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Marquette University, which hasn't lost a home basketball opener since 1959, hopes to extend its string tonight as the Warriors meet Valparaiso, a team that has beaten them in each of the past two seasons.

The Warriors will have the height advantage over the visitors from Indiana, who rely more on agility and speed than rebounding strength.

Al McGuire, starting his second season as Marquette coach, plans to open with Tom Flynn and Gene Smith, both 6-foot-5, at the forwards, 6-foot-6 Paul Carbins at center, and Bob Wolf and Brad Luchini, a pair of 6-foot-2 guards.

Valpo has a 6-foot-7 center, Ken Rakow, but only average height elsewhere. Steve Koch, 6-foot-2 Tom Smith and 5-foot-11 Dick Jones are at guards.

"They play tight and manage to do it without fouling," said McGuire, who is working to improve on an 8-18 record of a year ago. "The key is going to be how many times we turn the ball over without getting a shot, and how many times they do. If they can force errors, they can hurt us."

The game will virtually rematch last season's casts. Valpo, which has four of its five starters back, won that one 72-61. Luchini and Smith are the only newcomers to the Warriors' starting five.

"I'm edgy," said McGuire. "I get jumpy about this first game. Every year I do and this year especially. I just hope we hit the first shot so we can get off to a good start."

St. Gregory Wins, 67-65, Over Hilbert

HILBERT — Jim Miller, who finished with 30 points for the night, tallied seven baskets in the fourth period to lead St. Gregory St. Nazianz to a 67-65 non-conference victory over Hilbert's Wolves here Tuesday night.

Lee Ott led the Jerry Sprenger-coached Wolves with 22 points on 11 field goals. Jim Diener and sophomore Joe Weinreis chipped in with 14 points apiece.

Hilbert resumes Little Nine Conference play Friday, playing host to Denmark.

HILBERT — (10-15-21-19-65) — Diener 5 4 4; Ott 11 0 0; Weinreis 6 2 3; Rossmeier 0 0 1; Kretz 2 0 5; VandenAvond 4 0 0; Bobbs 0 0 1. Totals 26 18 17.

ST. GREGORY — (11-18-16-22-67) — Twohig 5 7 4; Miller 14 2 0; Baumgart 1 1 2; Gehr 7 1 5; Muehlbauer 0 0 0; Noworatzky 0 0 0. Totals — 27-13-12.

Kaukauna	5	5

Defending champion Neenah launches the 1965-6 Fox Valley Freshmen League season Thursday at Kaukauna, while other games send Roosevelt to Wilson, Menasha to Kimberly and Madison to Einstein, the loop's new member.

Neenah Coach Rick Carlson expects to select his starting lineup from among Brian Cannon, Tom Kopitzke, Greg Schultz, Rick Suechting, Les Vallow, Mike Wiesner and Ed Mueller.

Coach Dave Hash's top Kaukauna candidates include Sean Rohan, Dave LaBorde, Steve Weigman, John Pedleton, Randy Jones, Pat Kehoe and Tom Busse.

Kimberly and Coach Carl Gloede appear to have the tallest team in the circuit with Joe Ruys (6-3), Jim DeGoey (6-1) and Gary Kilsdonk (6-1). Other probable starters are Donald Hagany, Bill Lamers, Wayne Swokowski and Scott Manley.

Menasha's lineup will include Ron Haack, Jack Taves (6-1), Brad Schliem, John Koester and Ken Burrows.

Will Pick Lineup Coach Gary Northup, of Einstein, will select his opening lineup from among Tom Jones (6-3 center), Dan Chevalier, Gary Bleier and Mark Winter or Carl Ness and Mike Keane or Ken Ferron.

Madison's Del Schuh expects to choose from Don Knaack, Bob Birkholz, Tim Josephs, Steve Fustled, George Felton, Bob Christensen and Jeff Haviland. Knaack and Birkholz are the only two definite starters.

Wilson and Coach Bill Radke will open with Ade Johnson, Don Brinkman, Mark Catlin, Pat Burke, and Steve Carlson, with Rich Frome and Kim Eisch heading the reserve corps.

Roosevelt, runnerup last season with a 9-1 mark, will again be coached by Bob Brandt. Brandt expects to start forwards Mike Simon (6-2½) and Mike Lynott, center Mark Schroeder (6-3½) and guards Ken Zelle and Vince King or Phil Schuster. Top reserves include Kyle Mackey and Ted Roeloffs.

Oconto Scores 53-46 Victory Over Seymour

OCONTO — A hot-handed Warren LeMay pushed Oconto away from a meager 23-22 halftime lead to a more distinct 46-34 advantage after three quarters here Tuesday night and an eventual 53-46 conquest of Seymour in a Northwestern Wisconsin Conference game.

LeMay, who finished the night with 18 points, all on field goals, popped in five of his baskets in the key third period and all in a row to dispose of the Indians. Seymour rallied a bit in the final stanza, outscoring the Blue Devils, 12-7, over those final eight minutes but it was not enough.

Rick Eisenreich paced Seymour with 12 while Bruce Decker added 11.

GREEN BAY (AP) — Coach Vince Lombardi of Green Bay said Tuesday he has received several suggestions from Packers fans on how to get Green Bay's sluggish offense moving again.

Asked if any of the ideas were worth mentioning, Lombardi replied:

"What do you think? I suppose these people have their own business."

The Packers have managed to score more than one touchdown in only one of their last six games.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Oscar Robertson has the Cincinnati Royals moving better than ever in the National Basketball Association.

The Royals downed the Los Angeles Lakers 126-120 Tuesday night for their fourth consecutive victory and pulled even with the Eastern Division-leading Boston Celtics as far as games are concerned. Cincinnati still trails on percentage points.

Baltimore Wins In the other NBA games, Baltimore crushed Philadelphia 129-108 and New York walloped St. Louis 136-119 in a double-header at New York.

Robertson poured in 41 points and collected 14 assists. Just last Saturday night against New York he scored 44 points and notched 16 assists.

The Knicks made the New York coaching debut of Dick McGuire a success, putting the game beyond St. Louis' reach with a 77-point first half. Dick Barnett and Dick Van Arsdale powered a 13-point spree midway through the second quarter that shot New York far ahead of the Hawks.

Bosox Swap Bressoud for Christopher

Little Accomplished at Baseball Confab

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — It was a day of endless activity but little accomplishment at the baseball meetings Tuesday.

While the minors were trying to figure out a way to ease their financial burden, major leaguers were engaged in talks aimed at breaking a trade logjam. Several player transactions were made but all have been of comparatively minor nature.

The big ones have been hard to finalize than a peace settlement between the AAU and the NCAA. But it is not for lack of trying.

The Chicago Cubs thought they had a deal set with Atlanta that would have sent relief pitcher Lindy McDaniel to the Braves for catcher Gene Oliver. The Braves balked, insisting on broadening the swap to include Chicago right-hander Larry Jackson and Atlanta outfielder Rico Carty.

Seek Relief Pitcher President John McHale of the Braves acknowledged he has been seeking a topflight relief pitcher and said he had talked with the Boston Red Sox about getting 6-foot-6 Dick Radatz.

"Nothing has been worked out yet," he said. "We talked with the Red Sox once and hope we can work out something." McHale did not name any player he may have offered for Radatz, but there was speculation that they might be Felipe Alou, who plays first base and the outfield, and Bob Sadowski, a right-handed pitcher.

Radatz, 28, pitched sensationally in 1963 and 1964 but slipped somewhat last season. He was 15-16 in 1963, 16-9 in 1964 but 9-11 last season.

Alou, 31, batted .297, hit 23 home runs and drove in 78 runs in 143 games last season. Sadowski had a 9-5 record.

Offer Thomas, Tillman The Red Sox, searching for a second baseman, have offered first baseman Lee Thomas, catcher Bob Tillman, and reserve infielder Chuck Schilling for Dick Green of the Kansas City Athletics.

Trade talk between Baltimore and Philadelphia broke down, at least for the time being. The Orioles expressed a desire for Adolfo Phillips, a promising young Phillie center fielder, but cooled off when Philadelphia asked for pitcher Dave McNally in exchange.

Another proposed swap, Phillips and relief pitcher Jack Baldschun for Baltimore outfielder Jackie Brandt and pitcher John Miller, also fell through. Dick Stuart, slugging first baseman who became expendable when Philadelphia acquired Bill White from the St. Louis Cardinals last month, is still with the Phillies.

"Bill Remain" "And he will remain with us," said Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch, "if they continue to make these ridiculous offers for him."

"Everybody seems to think we've got to give him away. They couldn't be more wrong. What is wrong with having a guy who hit 28 home runs for you on the bench?"

Leo Durocher, who took over as manager of the Cubs a month ago, is anxious to swing a deal for catcher John Roseboro of the Los Angeles Dodgers. He considers the asking price of southpaw Dick Ellsworth too high, however.

The Red Sox and New York Mets finally announced a three-week old trade that sent outfielder Joe Christopher to Boston in exchange for veteran shortstop Eddie Bressoud.

Signed Malzone The California Angels signed veteran third baseman Frank Malzone and Cleveland signed veteran catcher Del Crandall. Malzone had been given his unconditional release by Boston and Crandall had been dropped by Pittsburgh.

CHICAGO (AP) — Charlie Metro, the Chicago White Sox coach who has been managing San Juan in the Puerto Rican winter baseball league, has been ousted as San Juan's manager, the Sun-Times said Tuesday night.

Rock, which took Tulsa's place in the Class AA Texas League.

The Salt Lake City franchise in the PCL was transferred to Tacoma, which had been vacant since the San Francisco Giants switched their franchise to Phoenix.

The two Triple A leagues, the PCL and the International, agreed to a compromise settlement in which the majors will pay the salaries of all optioned players exceeding $600 a month. The two leagues had paid the first $700 a month last season and had asked that it be cut to $300.

Lost Fight The two minor leagues lost their fight to force the majors to pay specified sums for players recalled to the big leagues during the season. A major league club now may recall a player from the minors at any time without compensation.

The New York Mets announced that they have named Kerby Farrell, 1967 manager of the Cleveland Indians, to manage the International League at Jacksonville, Fla.

The Mets also announced the signing of two coaches, Whitey Herzog and Warren (Sherrif) Robinson. Herzog coached for the Kansas City A's last season. Robinson joined the Mets last August after managing Buffalo of the International League.

GREEN BAY — Hopeful of leaving on a winning note, the Green Bay Bobcats are priming for Saturday night's match (7:50 p.m.) with the Waterloo Black Hawks, their final United States Hockey League assignment before enplaning for Europe.

The Bobcats are scheduled to fly out of Chicago Sunday morning on the first leg of a 2-week international goodwill tour that will take them to four European countries, beginning with an invasion of Russia.

Before they leave, General Manager-Player Coach John Mayasich and his skaters would like to climb nearer the elusive 500 mark by dispatching the Black Hawks, the USHL's defending champions. The Bobcats currently own a 2-4 record, following a weekend split with the second place St. Paul Steers.

Waterloo, which has won two straight league titles, is 3-0 at this point. The Hawks downed Rochester on the Mustangs' home ice, 6-4, in their most recent venture over the weekend.

The already-potent Hawks have been bolstered this season by the addition of Paul Johnson, a former Bobcat who starred for Des Moines in the International Hockey League a year ago.

Rusk came about when sophomore Tom Callaway, former Appleton High School star, reported for drills Monday. Callaway stands 6-2 and Rusk said he will add "definite strength and depth to the squad, particularly in rebounding."

Carleton had a 11-11 overall record last season and was 9-9 in MC play. The Carls are long on experience this season with nine lettermen back. Heading the list of returnees is Emmett Terwilliger, of Lancaster, Wis., last year's leading scorer. Rick Chap, 6-3 senior and Clark Marshall, 6-7 junior, also will be starting for the Carls in the front line.

Guards for Carleton will probably be John Wilson, 5-11 and Mike Trucano, 5-10. A question mark for the Carls is Jack Arado, 5-8 senior, who led the team in scoring as a sophomore, but was sidelined last season with a knee injury. If Arado makes a successful recovery the Carls should be a definite title threat.

St. Olaf also is deep in returnees and leading the squad is Eric Grimsrud, 5-11 senior and an all-conference first team selection last season. Backing up Grimsrud is Jeff Nelson, 6-3, an all-league second team choice.

Other St. Olaf letter winners back are Dave Zahn, Gary Wicks and Ron Newell.

Grambling Gains 2 Berths on AP's Little All-America Unit

NEW YORK (AP) — Former, a trio of repeaters from the ally, football fanatics glued their uninterrupted gaze on the ball carrier and paid no attention to the defense.

All that has changed in the past decade and if the 1965 Associated Press Little All-America team could be assembled for an All-Star fray, two jovial behemoths on defense would be as much of an attraction as any fancy stepping halfback.

They are Frank Cornish, a 285-pound tackle from Grambling, and Willie Lanier of Morgan State, a junior linebacker who never has played in a losing game as a collegian. Every game Morgan State has lost in the past three years came with Lanier on the bench because of injuries.

For sheer bulk, Cornish is the biggest man on the 22-player offensive defensive squad picked by The Associated Press in conjunction with football experts throughout the country. His poundage is stretched over a steel-hard frame that towers 6-7.

Best Since Brown

Lanier is 6-1 and weighs 230 pounds. He is a speedster who has averaged 12 unassisted tackles a game and scored two touchdowns this season, once via a recovered fumble and the other following an interception.

Coach Earl Banks says Lanier is the best football player at Morgan State since the days of Roosevelt Brown, a National League standout for more than a decade.

If you think Cornish is big, take a look at Tom Davis, the Tennessee State defensive end on the second team, who weighs 305.

Cornish's presence on the defense platoon and Willie Young's on the offensive forward wall makes Grambling the only college to place two men on the first team.

Laird Answers Hanson Charge Of Warhawking

'GOP Did Not Lead Last Four Wars,' State Democrat Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., countered a Democratic charge that he is the "head of the warhawks" in the House by saying his party had not "presided over the last four wars in this country."

The Marshfield Republican aimed his counterattack Tuesday at J. Louis Hanson, Wisconsin state Democratic chairman. Hanson made his charge in remarks to a Democratic meeting in Wausau early in October and repeated it Nov. 21 when asked to comment on Laird's suggestion that the United States declare war against North Viet Nam to help guarantee the safety of American prisoners of war.

Hanson said it was obvious that the Republicans planned to make the Viet Nam war their leading issue in the 1966 congressional campaign.

Laird, chairman of the House GOP conference, said his party has given the President far more support with regard to Viet Nam than members of his own party.

"This is not necessarily because my party enthusiastically approves the President's policy in Viet Nam, but because at this particular time, it is necessary to avoid giving the Red Chinese or the Soviet Union any reason for miscalculation as to the intentions of our country," Laird and his cohorts want the President to declare war. But, as soon as he did, they would quickly label it a Democratic war," said Hanson.

Arab Peace Talks at Deadlock

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A series of messages and special representatives were flying back and forth in the Arab world today in an attempt to save the deadlocked peace conference in Yemen.

The conference—to debate the future of Yemen and form a provisional government—was stymied by the intransigence of the royalist and republican delegates.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic, who wants peace so he can get his 60,000 troops out of Yemen, sent a special representative to the conference in the remote village of Haradith, in northern Yemen.

Nasser's newspaper in Cairo, Al Ahram, said "important contacts" were under way between the Egyptian and Saudi Arabian governments to breathe life into the meeting.

Reports from Haradith said the delegates were holding side meetings in their tents but there was no progress.

The conference has bogged down over interpretation of the peace agreement reached between Nasser and King Faisal of Saudi Arabia which ended hostilities in the three-year-old civil war.

Ice Capades Is Treat for Skate Buffs
BY TV SCOUT

8-9 — Channels 2-7-12 — Ice Capades of 1966 is a dazzling treat for cool headed buffs of skating who won't be too shocked to find Arthur Godfrey hosting the affair, which was filmed last August in Atlantic City. Godfrey takes the ice like a walrus to a polar cap. He is all over the place, waiting with egg Aja Zanova, flitting through excerpts of Puccini's "Turandot," and introducing non-skaters Liza Minnelli and Roger Miller, who sing. It's an interesting hour with lavish production numbers, fancy spins, and comedy mainly provided by Hans Leiter, who does a nimble parody of "Swan Lake." (Color)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 2-7-12 — It looks for a moment on Lost in Space that the Robinsons and Major West are finally going to get rid of the bad apple in their space trek.

6:30-8 — Channel 5 — The Virginian has an interesting question. What should a man do when he is expecting his mail-order bride to be a dowdy housewife and she turns out to be a svelte 19-year-old? In this curious tale, Michael Constantine, an immigrant Greek widower, does anything but jump for joy. (Color)

'Through a Glass Darkly'
Bergman Genius Seen In Neenah Art Film

NEENAH — The now-familiar cinematic magic of master Swedish director Ingmar Bergman is apparent once again in "Through a Glass Darkly," a harrowing drama of madness and atonement which opened Tuesday evening for a three-night run at the Neenah Theatre.

Featuring Max Von Sydow, who plays the Christ in George Stevens' "The Greatest Story Ever Told," and Harriet Andersson, remembered from Bergman's 1955 film, "Smiles of a Summer Night," "Through a Glass Darkly" packs as much significance and emotion into its 91 minutes as many more ambitious epics have tried to squeeze into three hours.

Skillfully photographed in black and white on the rustic island Faron, in the Baltic Sea, the film takes its title from a verse in Paul's first Epistle to the Corinthians (13:12), which reads:

"For now we see through a glass darkly;
But then face to face;
Now I know in part;
But then I shall know even as also I am known."

Through Four Persons
Like "Wild Strawberries" and "The Virgin Spring," this 1961 Academy Award-winner (best foreign language film) deals with what Bergman himself has called "the problem of God... always before me, always present... In 'Through a Glass Darkly' there is nothing to hide or obstruct what I want to have said."

In this instance the author-director's statement is made through the actions of four persons during a 24-hour period in an old house far out in the Stockholm Archipelago. In the course of a day the camera lays bare the personality and relationships of David, the father, played by Gunnar Bjornstrand; Karin, the daughter, Miss Andersson; Martin, the husband, Max Von Sydow, and Minus, the brother, Lars Passgard.

Powerful Scenes
Karin, it soon develops, is inevitably falling prey to what one presumes is latent schizophrenia. Neither the love of her husband nor the concern of her father, a novelist who has learned to fear his own clinically professional attitude toward his family, can slow the progress of Karin's rapidly developing illness.

In a compelling sequence of scenes Bergman depicts Karin's gradual loss of contact with the "real" world; the pain with which she observes her own disintegration, and the advantage she takes of her 17-year-old brother's ambivalent feelings toward her.

Climax of the film occurs in the last few moments, as a helicopter arrives to take Karin from the island. In this final, powerful scene Miss Andersson succeeds in taking the audience into the dark world of schizophrenia and portrays the presence of God in a manner that will shock some members of the audience.

The performances, as in most Bergman films, are uniformly good, with an ominous atmosphere and mood evoked by almost every camera set-up. This film will be enjoyed by all admirers of the Swedish cine-ma, but particularly by those who have already seen several of the Bergman productions, and wish to fit it into the developing pattern of his work.

Teen Code Subject of Capuchin Film Know Truth Segment Made on Location; Premiere on Sunday

"Seven Critical Years," dealing with a teen-age code and with several Green Bay area young people taking part, will have its premiere telecast on the "Know the Truth" series at 10 a.m. Sunday over Channel 5.

The Capuchin Fathers of Marathon, producers of "Know the Truth" series, announced the premiere showing today. The 15-minute movie will be followed by a panel discussion with Judge James W. Byers, Tom Basche, juvenile court worker, Peter Morris and Miss Diane Buechel taking part. Both Morris and Miss Buechel worked on the adoption of the teen-age code and are narrators for the film.

"This film is a departure from the regular segments of the series," said Father Anthony Scannel, O.F.M. Cap., in charge of the film production, "sometime in January."

IMPORTANT

Composition costs will be charged, if an ordered ad is cancelled before publication. After an ad is ordered, it cannot be changed before one publication. When cancelling an ad, demand a "kill number." No claim is recognized on ads cancelled without it. The number of days ad is published determines the rate of such ads.

ADJUSTMENTS

The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for verbal alterations in conflict with its established rates, policies or rates. All claims for adjustments or refunds must be made within 7 days after expiration of ad. Errors, not the fault of the advertiser, which make the advertisement less valuable, should be corrected the first day, when one extra corrected insertion will be made without charge. The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for error after the first insertion.

NOTICE

The Post-Crescent is exercising all precautions to avoid publishing any fraudulent or misleading advertising. However, if any ad appearing in the classified columns of the Post-Crescent can be proven fraudulent or misleading, we would appreciate your informing us immediately.

Man Receives Jail Term for Auto Theft

Parole Violator Pleads Guilty in Outagamie Court

Robert E. McGregor, arraigned Monday afternoon on a charge of taking and driving a car without the owner's consent, Tuesday was sentenced to a year in the state prison at Waupun.

The swift sentencing of McGregor, 34, of LaCrosse, came after the man waived a preliminary hearing, pleaded guilty and requested County Judge Gustave J. Keller to dispense with the pre-sentence investigation which is customarily conducted in felony cases.

McGregor, who was paroled from the state prison Nov. 8, said he desires to return to prison as soon as possible to seek medical attention for an ailment that is causing him severe headaches and other troubles. He said his ailment may stem from a car accident in which he was involved two years ago.

Parole Violation
McGregor's year sentence will run consecutive to any term that might be imposed for violation of parole.

The LaCrosse man, who said he worked in a Green Bay restaurant for about a week after his release from prison, was charged with taking a car owned by George Lietch, 836 E. John St., from the 400 block of W. College Avenue last Saturday night.

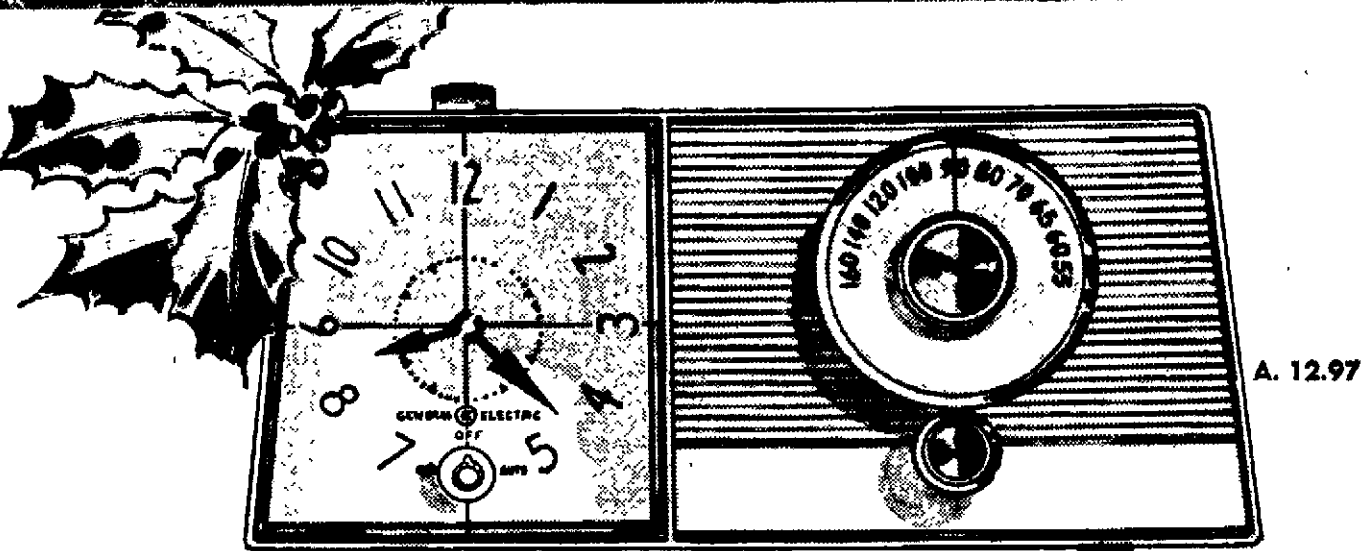

He was arrested early Sunday on State 29 by Shawano County authorities and was returned here for questioning by Appleton police.

The court appointed an attorney for McGregor after he was found to be indigent.

Soviets Charge U. S. Arsenal Aimed at Them

Canadians Defend U. S. Stockpile of Nuclear Armaments

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States was expected to reply today to Soviet charges that it is endangering millions of Europeans' lives with a giant arsenal of nuclear warheads directed against the Communist states.

Informed sources said the United States would point out to the General Assembly's main political committee that the Soviet Union omitted mention of

OTTAWA (AP) — Canadian officials said today the U. S. nuclear bombs on planes of other Atlantic alliance nations are nothing more than tin cans until U. S. teams arm them in instructions from the U. S. President.

They said nuclear bombs are slung under a certain number of Canadian and West German F104 Starfighter jets in West Germany when the planes are on what is known as "quick action alert."

The bombs are useless until they are armed with various secret mechanical and electronic devices which can be operated only by the U. S. nuclear team and the U. S. nuclear officer, the officials said.

Western claims that vast numbers of nuclear warheads in the Soviet Ukraine are directed against Western Europe.

Cite Statement
Tsarapkin cited a statement by U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara that 5,000 atomic warheads stockpiled in Europe in support of the Atlantic allies would soon be increased to 6,000.

"One mistake would cause the death of millions of Europeans," the Soviet envoy declared.

459 Vietnamese Killed in 7th Regiment's Last Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The destruction of South Viet Nam's 7th Regiment in savage fighting Saturday raised the Vietnamese weekly combat dead to 459, the government's second highest toll of the war, a U.S. military spokesman announced today.

Another 185 government soldiers were missing in action and 861 were wounded, the spokesman said.

The number of American dead dropped to 40 in the week ending last Saturday, the spokesman said. This compared with 240 Americans killed the previous week, the biggest U.S. casualty list since the United States began sending troops to Viet Nam nearly five years ago.

The U.S. toll last week was also far below the 70 and 86 Americans killed in the first two weeks of November.

Company Size
No U.S. units engaged Communist forces of any size during the week, while the Viet Cong made at least two and possibly three regimental-sized attacks on Vietnamese units. Five other Communist attacks were of battalion size and four were of company size.

The spokesman said 1,539 Viet Cong were killed during the week, giving U.S. and government troops a favorable kill ratio of 3 to 1.

Many of the South Vietnamese soldiers fell in the devastating attack on the 7th Regiment on an abandoned French rubber plantation 45 miles northwest of Saigon Saturday. Some U.S. advisers were among the casualties.

No major ground action was reported today, but the Viet Cong kept up guerrilla pressure striking before dawn at three small government outposts in the central highlands south of the big U.S. air base at Da Nang.

Killed One
U.S. Marines had their first action in some time in the Hue-Phu Bai area north of Da Nang, exchanging fire with about 20 Viet Cong. The Leathernecks killed one Communist and wounded four while taking light casualties, the spokesman said.

Air attacks continued on North Viet Nam with strikes

north and south of Hanoi, the capital. U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderjets damaged a railroad bridge and cratered several highways northwest of Hanoi, while jets and propeller-driven Skyriders from the carriers Ticonderoga and Bon Homme Richard dropped 30 tons of bombs on freight cars, army barracks and bridges near the coastal city of Vinh, a U.S. spokesman said.

He said Air Force and Navy planes flew 29 armed reconnaissance missions into North Viet Nam in the past two days. All aircraft returned safely, he reported.

Bomb Reds
Inside South Viet Nam, planes from the 7th Fleet carrier Kitty Hawk dropped 70 tons of bombs on suspected Viet Cong targets, while the destroyer Mansfield

President, 'Quadriad' Plan Meeting

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, concerned about record living costs rising at a close-to-inflation rate, plans an early meeting with key economic advisors to map a federal campaign against further hikes in price tags.

Johnson is expected to meet within the next week or 10 days, either at his ranch home near here or in Washington, with what he terms his economic "quadriad" — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, Budget Director Charles L. Schultze, Chairman William McCleskey Martin of the Federal Reserve Board and Chairman Gardner Ackley of his Council of Economic Advisors.

Routine Meeting
When it occurs, the session probably will be labeled a routine, periodic meeting of the group which, before Johnson's Oct. 8 surgery, got together with him at the White House about once every six weeks.

Such a conference in passing off such a conference in routine fashion — at least in advance — could be the potential impact on financial markets for stocks, bonds and, equally important, for money.

The "money markets" determine short-term borrowing costs that affect everyone from big industrialists to householders buying a new refrigerator on installment credit.

The Labor Department announced Tuesday in Washington that living costs rose by two-tenths of one per cent in October to an historic peak. The increase, the most rapid in some five years, nudged the upper limits of what the government

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Christmas shoppers this Saturday will find themselves in a woman's land when the San Francisco Women for Peace march out to battle war toys.

The organization's toy committee will bombard San Francisco shopping centers with literature urging the patronizing of four stores that ban war toys, a department store that refuses to advertise them and a toy manufacturer who has refused to go to war with his products.

"Civilization demands civilized toys," Julia Rosenthal told a news conference Tuesday. "Toys are tools for learning."

Government Calls Witnesses In Rights Trial

Three Klansmen Accused in Killing Of Detroit Woman

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Justice Department calls five more witnesses today before it winds up its case against three Ku Klux Klansmen accused of killing Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a white civil rights worker.

Asst. Atty. Gen. John Doar said the testimony today would be relative to the conspiracy charge against the trio. They are charged specifically with conspiring to violate the civil rights of the Detroit, Mich., mother of five.

The defendants are Collie LeRoy Wilkins Jr., 22, of Fairfield, Ala.; Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer, Ala. They are represented by former Mayor Arthur Hanes of Birmingham.

Shot to Death
Mrs. Liuzzo, wife of Anthony Liuzzo, a Teamsters Union official, was shot to death March 25 after the Selma-to-Montgomery march as she shuttled demonstrators back to Selma.

Since U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. had ruled the march was a right of the demonstrators, and could be held, the government gained an indictment that Mrs. Liuzzo's right was, therefore, violated. The indictment, which carries a maximum of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine, does not mention Mrs. Liuzzo by name.

British Air Force Moves Into Kenya

Planes, Men Ready to Enter Rhodesian Neighbor Zambia

LONDON (AP) — The government moved Royal Air Force planes and men to Kenya today, ready for quick entry into Zambia on breakaway Rhodesia's northern frontier.

The forces were moved after a snag developed over arrangements to send British troops to the big Kariba Dam on Zambia's border with Rhodesia. It was reported Zambia insisted British troops be stationed in Rhodesia.

Commonwealth Relations Secretary Arthur Bottomley flew to Zambia for talks with President Kenneth Kaunda on the role of the British token force in that African-ruled republic.

In London, Prime Minister Harold Wilson was prepared to announce arrangements for the movement of a British military contingent into Zambia.

Changes Possible
Aides reported Wilson might make his statement to the House of Commons this afternoon but warned that last-minute changes of plan are possible in the light of the exchanges with Kaunda.

The purpose of the British force would be to insure Zambia against pressure that could come either from white-ruled Rhodesia or from nationalist African states.

President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania applied some pressure with a denunciation of Britain's offer of token military aid to Zambia. In a message to Kaunda, Nyerere branded the British offer as an insult. He pledged military and other assistance from Tanzania.

At least nine British transport planes arrived in Nairobi, Kenya, from Aden. They are on hand to ferry troops and equipment that the British have made available for quick transfer into Zambia.

10 Fighters
Government sources here said the British have offered Kaunda 10 Javelin fighters to be based in Ndola, in Zambia's copper belt, plus a radar station and 124 officers and men.

Kaunda objected to some of the detailed conditions Wilson had spelled out. These included an understanding that no other outside troops — from Ghana, for instance — would be allowed into Zambia, that effective control of the British force would remain vested in the British government, and that the force would remain inside Zambia.

The British are fearful that if other African troops are allowed into Zambia they might become involved in a clash with the white Rhodesian forces. This might suck Britain into an unwanted conflict.

Growing Form of Larceny

FBI Reports Annual Upsurge in Complaints of Shoplifting Listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — With just 20 shopping days until Christmas, the FBI reported today that shoplifting is the nation's fastest growing form of larceny, having increased 93 per cent in the past five years.

Police last year recorded 184,473 shoplifting cases involving stolen goods worth almost $5 million.

Most shoplifters are women, the FBI said, "probably because of the ease with which the female shoplifter can conceal stolen articles on and around her person."

The FBI's legal term for shoplifting is "stealing." To fit that description, the culprit must take merchandise from a store during business hours and carry it away with the intention of theft.

Professional shoplifters steal

for profit with the intention of reselling the merchandise, the FBI said.

"Usually with little income or means of support, he or she makes his vocation, primarily working in department stores and specialty shops, though spreading his talent around where it will do the most good."

The professional prefers suburban stores over downtown stores because there is apt to be less scrutiny in the outlying establishments.

He often trains accomplices and works in pairs or threesomes, assigning one to distract the attention of the salesperson while the other helps himself to loot from the counters.

He generally avoids elevators and escalators for fear of being boxed in without chance of escape. Should shoplifting teams feel they have been observed, they will huddle around the display and replace the item.

Amateur Thieves
Among the amateur shoplifters are housewives, persons with small incomes and juveniles of both sexes.

"They steal for several reasons," the FBI said, "real or imaginary hardship, personal need, an opportunity presenting itself, inability to resist temptation, or — especially with juveniles — for the thrill involved."

The usual items taken by amateurs are lingerie, hose, costume jewelry and other small articles.

Dope Addicts
Narcotic addicts, the FBI said, seek merchandise with high resale value to get the money to feed their expensive habit.

Kleptomaniacs — who are afflicted with an irresistible desire to steal — usually come from upper middle class families and steal items "not because of their value but because they may have some hidden meaning."

But true kleptomaniacs make up less than 1 per cent of shoplifters, the FBI said.

Juvenile shoplifters, for the most part, take things they don't need, the FBI said. "They do not try to profit by their act of shoplifting, and, more often than not, do it as a sort of adventure," the report went on.

Recorded Address

Peace Is Object of Ayub's U. S. Trip

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — President Mohammed Ayub Khan said today that his meeting with President Johnson Dec. 14 will be "a quest for peace."

In a recorded broadcast, Ayub said that while Pakistan is "engaged in mobilizing our resources and gearing our economy to preparedness for defense, we are not neglectful of the fundamental aim of our policies, namely the pursuit of peace."

"It will be in this quest for peace that I shall be proceeding to the United States where I shall be addressing the United Nations, meeting President Johnson in response to a long standing invitation from him."

Johnson invited Ayub in January but a scheduled trip in April was postponed because of the congressional session and other business.

Certain Strains
Ayub said during the last three years "certain strains have developed in our relations with the United States. They seem to have some grievances against us, as we have against them. We appreciate that nations do not enter into alliances from purely altruistic motives. They do so in furtherance of their national policies and objectives."

"These policies and objectives keep on changing with changes in the world situation. An adjustment in relations becomes inevitable from time to time but so long as there is an understanding of each other's point of view, adjustments can be affected without rancor or ill will."

"It may suit the United States to build up India by massive doses of arms and economic aid, but we have every reason to complain if American aid guns are trained against us."

AEC Inspects Stoughton Site For Smasher

Tract One of 85
Being Considered
By Commission

STOUGHTON (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission survey team planned to devote six hours today to inspecting Wisconsin's proposed site for a $340 million atomic accelerator.

The four-man team was scheduled to tour a 5,000-acre tract near Stoughton that is now the location of the Midwestern Universities Research Association (MURA) facilities. The group was formed by 15 schools in 1956.

The survey team is one of eight such groups touring 85 sites throughout the country which are under consideration for the mammoth scientific complex.

46 States
MURA's original bid for an atomic accelerator several years ago failed, but the site is under consideration again. Forty-six states submitted proposals designed to attract the 200 billion electron volt machine to their areas.

In September, the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) trimmed the list of 126 proposals to 85, including Stoughton. Survey teams are now touring the remaining possibilities.

Members of the team scheduled to inspect the MURA site were Dr. John Swarthout, the AEC's assistant general manager for reactors; Dr. Raymond Fricken of the AEC research division; Dr. Robert Livingston of the AEC's Oak Ridge, Tenn., national laboratories and Jack Bane, an engineer with the AEC construction division.

Experiments Devices
MURA, a non-profit corporation, now operates a 50 million electron volt accelerator. The organization now employs about 100 persons, who are constructing atomic experimental devices.

The site is located off U.S. Highway 51 near Lake Kegonsa, about 12 miles south of Madison. It includes 240 acres now owned by MURA, 69.5 acres under public ownership and farm land owned by private individuals.

The universities comprising the association are:

Medical Group Accuses AMA of Segregation

NEW YORK (AP) — The president-elect of the National Medical Association has charged that the American Medical Association has refused to open its door to membership by qualified Negro physicians.

Dr. John L. S. Holloman Jr., a Negro, said Tuesday night the AMA permits segregation by allowing its county medical societies to practice racial discrimination.

The NMA has about 4,400 members, most of whom are Negroes.

Headed for Record

Congressmen Globe Trot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators and representatives seem on their way toward establishing a record for globe-girdling travels during the congressional recess.

The bill for this year's overseas missions will not be known until some time in March when all of the itemized accounts are turned in and published in the Congressional Record.

But it is expected to exceed by far the $386,876.65 spent in 1964 — $239,300.90 for travel; by House members and $157,575.30 for expenses of senators.

On the whole, congressmen on missions for House and Senate committees can charge the government for their official expenses. But many say they pay their own way, including travel by commercial airliner, hotel bills and the like.

Pay Expenses
All are supposed to pay for entertainment, such as visits to theaters and night clubs. In most cases they are supposed to pay for their wives if they take them along.

The bulk of the overseas spending is covered by the use of so-called counterpart funds, or U. S.-owned currencies which have accumulated largely when surplus farm commodities are sold under the Food for Peace program for local currency rather than U. S. dollars.

The purpose of the trips include inspection of military installations, investigation of how the foreign aid program is being run, attendance at international conferences, checking into peace prospects in Viet Nam and inspection of how the Alliance for Progress program is operating in Latin America.

Mansfield Trip
The most-publicized trip this year is the fact-finding mission Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana is conducting at President Johnson's request along with Sens. George D. Aiken, R - Vt., Edmund S. Muskie, D - Maine, Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii and J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del.

They have already been to most European capitals, including Moscow and Paris, and will wind up their inquiry in South Viet Nam.

Parliamentary Meetings
More than 50 House members were appointed to attend separate parliamentary meetings held during the year in Ottawa, Paris, Mexico City and Dublin, in addition to one now in progress in Wellington.

Next week a House Foreign

Affairs group headed by Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D - Wis., will take off for Cracow, Poland, to help dedicate a children's hospital built with American funds. Stop-overs are scheduled for Paris, Vienna, Madrid and Warsaw.

Many of the estimated 20 committee members scheduled to take the trip will not leave from Washington but will converge on Cracow from the far-away points they are now visiting.

Zablocki and seven other con-

Shoe Salesman Missed Sale — the Hard Way

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Alex Sellock, owner of a downtown shop, says he was trying to fit an attractive young lady with a pair of fur-lined boots when she pointed a small pistol at him and ordered him into the storeroom. Then she made off with $50 from the cash register Tuesday night.

Six Children Killed in Fire in Pennsylvania

QUAKERTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A fire wrecked a wooden house three miles west of this southern Pennsylvania community Tuesday night killing six children.

A seventh child was hospitalized with burns suffered when fire wrecked the home of Chester Allen Jr. in the sub-freezing cold.

Chester Allen Jr., a son, said those killed in the blaze were his brothers, Eric, 1, David, 11, and four foster children cared for by his parents; Jack Jones, 2, Robin Jones 8, Penny Jones 6, and Ronnie Jones 7.

Chester Jr., 19, his wife Elaine, a sister, Elizabeth, 1, and their mother returned to the house in time to see flames run up one wall and engulf the on-story structure.

The clothes of Chester Jr. and his mother were burned as they tried vainly to reach the trapped and screaming children.

The mother managed to drag to safety a son, Alonzo, 12, who was in serious condition at a Quakertown hospital.

$1.2 Million Building Destroyed When Plane Slides Into Hangar

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A jet fighter plane slid into a hangar while landing at Elmendorf Air Force Base Tuesday night, setting a fire which destroyed the $1.2-million building.

The pilot, Lt. Col. Francis R. Lawson of the 325th Fighter Wing, McCord Air Force Base, near Tacoma, Wash., escaped but suffered a back sprain and was placed in a hospital.

The F106 was completing a flight from Eielson Air Force Base, near Fairbanks. It slid into the back of the hangar, which housed three planes which firemen managed to remove.

Space Shot Saturday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 7 and 6 astronauts had a five-hour appointment with the doctors today to make certain they are physically and mentally fit for their doubleheader space launching.

For the Gemini 7 crew, Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., it was the final major check before they ride a Titan 2 rocket into the sky Saturday to kick off the twin shot. Scheduled blastoff time for the 14-day endurance mission is 2:30 p.m. (EST).

The Gemini 6 astronauts, Navy Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, undergo a less extensive exam. They will have a final physical three days before the scheduled Dec. 13 liftoff of their two-day flight.

The two spacecraft are to rendezvous, perhaps within a few inches, in what would be an historic space feat.

The Borman-Lovell examinations will provide baseline data for use in the most comprehensive medical survey ever attempted on a U.S. man-in-space journey.

Gemini 7 will be crammed with medical instruments which will funnel information to ground stations as Borman and Lovell circle the earth for 329 hours of a weightless whirl.

The study is to answer such questions as: Do bones grow old in weightlessness? Can man be protected from developing a "lazy heart" in space? Can he survive well enough in space to make a 14-day flight to the moon, the longest planned in the Apollo program? How deep does an astronaut sleep?

De Gaulle Campaigns in TV Talk

Says Election of
Opponents 'Would
Return Odious State'

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle made a television pitch for re-election Tuesday night, saying much still can be done for progress and peace and France wants a strong man at its head.

He said the election of any of his five opponents "would without fail mark the return to the odious state" of the nation under previous regimes.

The 75-year-old president had planned no campaign speeches but changed his mind after public opinion polls indicated his opponents were making gains and many voters were still undecided about their choice for the election Dec. 5.

One poll published Tuesday by the newspaper France-Soir said 36 per cent of those questioned had not made up their minds. The newspaper Le Monde said 38 per cent in its poll were undecided.

France-Soir said 51 per cent of the others questioned were for De Gaulle, 27 per cent for leftist Francois Mitterand, 6 per cent for rightist Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour, 1 per cent for centrist Jean Lecanuet, and 3 per cent for two minor candidates.

Le Monde gave De Gaulle 47 per cent if the decided voters. Mitterand 29, Lecanuet 14.5 and Tixier-Vignancour 8.

Few doubt that De Gaulle will be re-elected, but some question whether he will get a majority in the first round of balloting Sunday. It will be the first time that Frenchmen choose a president by popular vote, and some observers think De Gaulle will quit if he is forced into a runoff.

Tuesday night's television speech was De Gaulle's first address to the public since he announced Nov. 4 that he was available for another term.

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — James G. Patton, retiring president of the National Farmers Union and a militant battler for strong government farm aid, predicted today the end of big federal agricultural programs.

"I believe that we have seen the last of legislation authorizing government programs to stabilize farm commodity prices and supplies," Patton said in an interview. He referred to the 4-year farm bill enacted this year which authorizes broadened government payments to supplement farm income.

Patton said he foresees the day when farmers will be able to go it alone with little or no subsidies or government assistance. "In time farmers will be able to bargain effectively for adequate and stabilized prices for their products," he said.

Farm Bargaining

In a significant statement of his views of the future, Patton predicted that farm bargaining will be carried on by cooperatives able to control sufficient supplies to obtain farm returns which no longer would need to be supplemented, as now is the case for some commodities, by government payments. Patton and former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, now general counsel of the Farmers Union, have been strong advocates of payment programs.

A rival farm organization, the American Farm Bureau Federation, long has fought government farm programs. It has been promoting farm bargaining cooperatives.

25 Years in Post

Patton made it clear, however, that he has no intention of retiring as a farm leader, although he said that under no circumstances would he accept a new term when his present one expires in March. He has headed the Farmers Union for 25 years.

He said he expects to devote his time to international agricultural development, the promotion of the farm bargaining cooperative movement, the establishment of a broad American food-for-peace program, the creation of a world land bank offering easy credit to poor farmers, and the promotion of programs to end poverty wherever it might exist in this country.

U. S. Hardens Policy on Surplus Food

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has hardened its policy on the disposal of surplus food, largely due to dwindling reserves of wheat stocks and other edibles and a mounting supply of foreign currency that cannot be used.

U.S. authorities, making this known today, said the new policy will affect India, Pakistan, the United Arab Republic and about seven other countries designated as currency-excess countries by the U.S. Treasury. The designation means the United States has accumulated far more local currency from those countries than it can possibly use in the immediate future.

The new policy, already in progress, is to receive virtually all payments later in dollars rather than in rupees and dinars. Among the other excess currency countries are Ceylon, Burma, Guinea, Israel, Poland, Tunisia and Yugoslavia.

Coming under this policy will be the proposed sale of $55 million worth of food to the United Arab Republic. The State Department announced Tuesday that President Johnson had approved such a sale, and that talks would open in Cairo within two weeks on the terms.

State Officials Tells Boards

Prompt Action Advised in Joining Vocational District

Prompt action by school districts to join area vocational schools was urged Tuesday evening by Richard Whinfield, assistant to the director of the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

Speaking to 92 members and representatives of 23 boards of education who met at Kimberly High School, Whinfield said, "All districts of the state will be incorporated in an area vocational school and it would be to the advantage of any district board of education to petition the state board as soon as possible."

Subject of the session was the recently enacted law calling for area vocational schools to be created throughout the state by 1970.

Equal Opportunities

"One of the purposes of this program," Whinfield said, "is to provide adequate buildings, staff and programs and equal opportunities to all state residents."

"And any area ready with a building program will be given

Driver to Face Trial on Charge Made by Constable

Maurilio Leija, 31, Bear Creek, pleaded innocent of reckless driving when he appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Monday afternoon on a complaint signed by David Fletcher, Bear Creek constable.

Leija was arrested Nov. 21 on County Trunk D, just north of Bear Creek, in connection with an incident in which several cars were nearly forced off the road, authorities said.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller set the case for trial on Feb. 9 and ordered bond of $100.

3 Calumet Banks Hike Interest Rate

CHILTON — Three banks in Calumet County have announced Tuesday that they will be paying 4 per cent interest on passbook savings accounts, effective today.

They are the State and Commercial banks here and the State Bank of Stockbridge.

Several others are considering making the 1 per cent rate increase, it was reported.

The trend spread quickly after being started last week in the Neenah-Menasha area. Fox Cities banks in Appleton, Kaukauna and Kimberly quickly followed suit.

Clintonville Moose to Observe 46th Birthday financial as well as program consideration first," Whinfield said.

So far, Appleton, Kimberly, Neenah and Menasha boards of vocational education have expressed a desire to proceed with the development of an area school.

The new law provides that all areas within the created district will support the district financially.

A tax rate of up to $2 per $1,000 of equalized valuation can be assessed on all property.

State Aids

Other sources of income include state aids which amount to as much as 80 per cent for full-time post high programs; federal aids representing up to 50 per cent of instructional cost and 50 per cent of the cost of approved equipment as well as 50 per cent of salaries for special programs.

$1.7 Million to be Spent For Waupaca Road Projects

Official Reports on 1966 Plans

WAUPACA — Major road building projects in Waupaca County in 1966 will total more than $1,718,702, according to Fred Grunwald, County Highway Commissioner.

Most money being spent will be on state and federal highways with the Waupaca area receiving the most attention.

The U.S. 10 beltline skirting the southern and western edge of Waupaca will be surfaced for an estimated $812,000. The bypass will be concrete surfaced.

Grading Completed

Grading has been completed on the bypass and is near the point where it can be surfaced, Grunwald said. The surfacing contract is expected to be let sometime in early spring and the bypass is scheduled for completion next fall.

Churchill Street in Waupaca will be rebuilt and blacktopped for an estimated cost of $112,000 and the west end of Fulton Street will be widened, curb and gutter installed and resurfaced at a cost of $81,000. This will include adding another two lanes under the west underpass near the intersection of States 10-54 and 22.

Another $110,000 has been allocated for engineering work and the purchase of right-of-way on U.S. 10. This will connect between Waupaca and Amherst with the new beltline when it is completed.

In the Fremont area, an estimated $210,000 will be spent to widen U.S. 10 four feet and resurface it from the Village of Fremont, east to the Waupaca-Outagamie County line.

County Projects

County highway projects in 1966 will include rebuilding of County Trunk E between Waupaca and Ogdensburg at an estimated cost of $124,000 for rebuilding the base and grading and $85,000 for blacktopping.

Also included is surfacing of County Trunk D south of New London for an estimated cost of $75,000. The 4½ mile section of highway was completely rebuilt this year. A request has also been made for federal aid on both projects, Grunwald said.

In the Town of Bear Creek, County Trunk T between State 22 and County Trunk O will be rebuilt for an estimated cost of $60,000.

Hearing Set on Weyauwega City Services

WEYAUWEGA — A public hearing on a complaint filed by Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Gull to the State Public Service Commission against the City of Weyauwega has been scheduled for 9 a.m., Dec. 8, at the Waupaca County Courthouse.

Gull's complaint is against the city council's refusal to provide him with sewer and water service in the Town of Weyauwega.

The council originally had voted to provide the service. However, this action was vetoed by the mayor.

Gull then presented a proposal stating he would pay the entire cost of installing the mains. This was unanimously turned down by the council.

Appleton Councilmen Want Public Hearing On CATV Proposals

Four Firms Seeking Permission To Service City With System

A joint committee of the Appleton Common Council has scheduled a public hearing for Jan. 17 to hear both sides in the cable (CATV) television dispute which appears to be shaping up here.

Appleton became the focal point for CATV recently when four firms indicated they would file applications with the common council requesting the exclusive community television antenna system franchise.

Under a community antenna system, regional and distant TV stations can be picked up in Appleton because viewers are able to get good pictures from the three major networks. Subscribers pay an installation charge and a monthly fee for the service. The city would be paid a percentage of the gross income from the venture.

Chilly Reception

While CATV has been popular in some parts of the country, it has received a chilly reception from most communities in this part of the state. There are presently 15 systems operating in Wisconsin.

The cable TV question came up at Monday's meeting of the council's street-sanitation committee and its chairman, Ald. Roy Pointer (15th), made arrangements with Ald. Arthur Mueller (19th), public safety committee chairman, to hold a joint meeting and conduct the hearing "to get the pros and cons."

In the meantime, the city attorney's office is being requested to prepare a legal opinion on whether the law is involved in franchise matters.

The committee also intend to obtain information from opponents and proponents of community television antenna systems, along with statements from the franchise applicants — local TV dealers and repairmen opposing the applications.

Aldermen have frankly admitted they do not know enough about cable TV to render a decision on the applications.

Withhold Action

However, they have indicated the National League of Cities has advised municipalities to withhold action on awarding franchises until the federal communications commission (FCC) takes jurisdiction.

Community antenna television is not to be confused with closed circuit or pay-as-you-go television.

Ed Koleske, 1124 N. Mason St., representing the TV dealers and repairmen, told the committee, "We don't want community antenna television here at all."

Koleske said he believed the system was alright where needed but opined it was not needed in Appleton because viewers were able to get good pictures from the three major networks.

Koleske claimed there was the possibility people who do not connect to a CATV system would experience interference on their sets.

He also claimed there was nothing to prevent a CATV operator from raising rates once awarded the franchise.

Ald. Paul Klemmer (12th), who said he wanted more information, noted that Marquette, Mich. residents had CATV and as a result were getting more than one station. He was curious as to how the system would interfere with the television dealers and repairmen.

Lose Business

Koleske explained if a person who is hooked on to the CATV system experiences trouble with his television set, it was likely he would call the operator. The latter in turn, according to Koleske, would call his own service firm—thus taking away the business from the local repairmen.

"You might call it a captive sales situation," Koleske said. He indicated that dealers usually derive 30 per cent of their new television set sales while making service calls, explaining that many times when a large sum has to be invested in repairs the owner would rather get a new set.

Council committees have yet to hear from the franchise applicants. The latter will be requested to prepare briefs for study by the aldermen.

Waupaca Official Is First Candidate

Files Nomination Papers With County Clerk in Re-Election Bid

WAUPACA — John Hanson, 330 S. Washington St., Waupaca became the first candidate for a seat on the new Waupaca County Board when he filed his nomination papers, Monday, with County Clerk Robert Backer. Hanson will seek re-election to his city of Waupaca, fourth ward supervisor post.

Geary Wilson, chairman of the Town of Mukwa, became the second to file papers, Tuesday. Under the new reapportionment program, all supervisors and town chairman must seek the county board seat which will be a separate post. Prior to this time, town chairmen also served as the county board representative.

The reapportionment plan accepted by the board at its November meeting will reduce its size from 52 to 31 members.

15 Others File

Backer said 15 other town board chairmen and supervisors have taken out nomination papers already but he has not kept a list of who they were. He said, however, that only present board members have appeared at his office for papers.

Last Friday was the first day nomination papers could be circulated and 5 p.m. Jan. 25 is the deadline for filing.

Papers may be obtained from the county clerk's office at the courthouse in Waupaca, the only place within the county they will be available, Backer said.

Mayor Schlafer Seeks 3rd Term

NEW LONDON — Mayor Wilmer Schlafer Tuesday became the first candidate for city office to take out nomination papers.

Schlafer will seek his third term as mayor in the April, 1966, election.

Deadline for filing papers is Jan. 25.

Chilton Fund Drive Nears $6,528 Goal

CHILTON — The United Fund drive here is within 90 per cent of reaching its $6,528 goal, according to general chairman, Anthony Klapperich.

With some business pledges still to be collected, Klapperich estimated the drive would finish sometime next week.

State Court Denies Change Of Attorneys

Decision Refutes Indigent's Right To Pick Counsel

County Judge Gustave J. Keller was supported by the State Supreme Court in a decision last week denying a change of attorneys for Richard Allen Cornelius, 19-year-old Milwaukee youth charged with arson.

The state high court, in a letter received by Judge Keller Tuesday afternoon, said it had refused to issue an order to show cause against the judge as requested by Appleton attorney Allen Cain.

The letter, signed by Chief Justice George R. Currie, stated that Cain, on Monday, had presented to the court, in behalf of Cornelius, a petition in which he complained of Judge Keller's refusal to accept substitution of attorney and order the replacement of court appointed attorney Hugh F. Nelson by Cain.

Stayed Action

The proposed order to show cause would have stayed proceedings against Cornelius until the court could make its determination on the order.

Judge Keller Friday refused a motion by Cain to be substituted as Cornelius' attorney, saying that an indigent, although having the right to counsel at county expense, could not select his counsel.

Chief Justice Currie concurred, stating "We normally recognize a right of the indigent to terminate the representation of the court - appointed counsel, but we do not recognize the right of the indigent to select the counsel to be appointed as a replacement."

Told of Decision

Cornelius, a former West DePere resident, was told of the Supreme Court ruling Tuesday afternoon when he appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

He is charged with three counts of arson and one of criminal trespass in connection with fires early Oct. 31 that destroyed the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church and barns owned by George Verkuilen and John Peterson, all in the Town of Oneida.

The three counts of arson are felony charges and the trespass count, filed in connection with entry into a convent on the parish grounds, is a misdemeanor.

Judge Keller, on request of Cornelius' attorney, ordered the case continued to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 7. Cornelius remains in jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Continue Case Against Popke

Judge Keller Sets Dec. 10 For Appearance

Following a request for continuance to allow time to study a coroner's jury transcript, County Judge Gustave J. Keller Tuesday afternoon set Dec. 10 as the date for appearance of Gregory Popke, 19, 604 Wallace St., New London, charged in connection with the traffic deaths Oct. 1 of three members of a Park Falls family.

The request for continuance was asked by Atty. William Schuh whom the court appointed to represent Popke after the New London youth was found to be indigent.

Bond was continued at $2,000. Popke is free on bond.

Popke was arraigned earlier this month in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle in a negligent manner in connection with the deaths of Charles R. Bradle, 19, driver of the car involved in the headon collision with Popke's auto; his sister, Ruth, 10, and a brother, Michael, 2.

The charge was brought following a finding of negligence against Popke by a six man coroner's jury on Nov. 4.

The accident occurred on U.S. 45, just west of Greenville Corners.

Start Construction Of Bank at Hilbert

Original Cost Estimate for Structure Set at $115,000

HILBERT — Construction of the new State Bank of Hilbert started this week on the west side of state 57, across from the high school.

The original cost estimates for the new building, discussed by directors for nearly two years, were $115,000. This figure may be reduced slightly, bank officials said.

The new facility will replace the bank's present home at Main and Fifth Streets, a building almost 60 years old. Banking started in Hilbert in 1904 and the present building was built in 1907.

Floor Space

The new 46 by 56-foot structure will offer 2,875 square feet of floor space, compared with 950 in the present building. It will feature a self-supporting roof, allowing partitions to be placed where needed. The exterior walls are the only permanent ones.

Drive-In Banking

Drive-in banking will be provided. Access will be from State 57, with exits on Milwaukee and Ninth Streets. There will be no exit onto the highway, bank officials emphasized.

The facility will be situated on a 115 by 280-foot lot. The location is in a growing business and residential area of the village.

List Contractors

Parsons Brothers, is general contractor. Plumbing and heating will be installed by Karlis Corporation and Paul's Electric got the electrical contract. All firms are from Stockbridge. Howard Sielaff Signs, Hilbert, will be the contractor for electronics, and intercommunications system.

Construction is expected to take five or six months. The bank was designed by Louis Kingscott and Associates, Kalamazoo, Mich., through its Madison office.

Discarded Household Items destined for the junk heap have been converted into sparkling Christmas decorations for the Bethany Home at Waupaca. Responsible for the 'bleach bottle transformation' is Mrs. Herbert Wegener, of rural Manawa. Here she inspects some of her work. (Hahn Photo)

Manawa Homemaker's Creations

Woman Convert's 'Junk' to Decor

BY MRS. LEONARD HAHN
Post-Crescent Correspondent

MANAWA — Take some discarded plastic bottles, detergent, bleach and such, lids from empty tin cans, tuna fish cans, and cans which contained ham. Candidates for the junk pile? Yes, for anyone uninspired, but a definite "no" for Mrs. Herbert Wegener of route 1.

She adds glitter, inexpensive holiday balls, artificial holly, ribbon and a generous amount of imagination and comes up with some really unique decorations.

Mrs. Wegener has just completed over 20 lanterns made from plastic bottles, each one different. They will be used in decorating Bethany Home, Waupaca.

Tin Can Lids
She has also taken tin can lids, bent them with the aid of pliers, strung them on red ribbon and fastened them to pine cones for exterior door decorations. The pine cone bells also are for Bethany Home.

These two projects took her several months to complete. She will help decorate the home Friday.

Mrs. Wegener also makes Easter decorations from empty canned ham containers. She has made chicken and bunny place cards out of cotton balls from discarded popcorn braid. She adds foam rubber to tuna fish cans and comes up with novel pin cushions. She says your own imagination is the only limit to creativity.

Boxes of Bits
Mrs. Wegener's workshop is the dining room of her farm home. There she keeps boxes containing bits of ribbon, lace, material and anything else she uses for the planning meeting.

Neenah won two matches on pins, three by decisions and scored one draw. The Rockets lost three on pins, one via default and one decision.

In another tight struggle, sophomore Kevin Milliken battled favored Don Nett to a 1-1 tie. A penalty point was charged against Milliken for going off the mat.

The Rockets' Mike LeGault remained unbeaten by scoring a 10-0 verdict over Daun Korkow at 138. LeGault had two near falls.

Estimate 10 Days To Repair Dryer

Damage at Combined Locks Firm Not Set; Await Work Completion

COMBINED LOCKS — Insurance representatives at the Combined Locks Paper Co., investigating damage as a result of a dryer explosion Saturday, estimated it would take a week to 10 days to repair damage to machines.

A damage estimate figure was not set and will not be determined until crews begin dismantling and repairing the machines.

Three Machines

Extensive damage was reported to No. 4 paper machine, in which the unit exploded. Heavy damage was reported to No. 5 machine which was hit by flying pieces of the dryer roll and lesser damage was reported to No. 3 machine.

Some glass-block windows were blown out and ceiling and roof damage also was noted. Insurance men will meet with representatives of striking Local 144 at 10 a.m. Thursday in an attempt to ascertain whether maintenance men from that union will be permitted to enter the mill and assist with repair work. The men would be employees of the insurance company and not the mill, which is being struck.

Picket Lines

If the union refuses to permit its crews to work, the insurance carrier would be faced with a problem of securing outside men who still would have to cross picket lines.

If the crew hired were union members, it is likely permission would also be needed from striking locals before these men would cross picket lines.

Failure to shut off a steam valve leading to the four-foot dryer roll is believed to have caused the explosion.

Court Orders New Trial

Reverses Decision Of Outagamie Judge In Injury Suit

MADISON — The Wisconsin Supreme Court today reversed a decision of Outagamie Judge Raymond Dobr and ordered a new trial in an action brought by Sylvester Huss to recover damages for injuries suffered in a motor vehicle collision in Kaukauna in June, 1962.

The state court held that there was insufficient evidence in the trial court for a verdict in which the jury may have included an allowance for future pain and suffering.

The action was against Timothy Vande Hey, driver of the automobile involved in the collision with Huss. Medical evidence before the trial court showed that as a result of the accident, Huss sustained injuries on his spine, back and chest muscles.

The lower court found Vande Hey negligent as a matter of law, and the jury assessed damages for personal injuries of $4,750 and medical expenses of $550.

Justice Myron Gordon wrote P. Tidemann, Bismarck, N.D., Sunday school classes in the Amherst church will be at 8:45 a.m. and at 10 a.m. at Nelsonville.

Chairman of UW YGOP of Oshkosh Cites Growth

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Chairman of a record-sized University of Wisconsin Young Republican Club this year on the campus here is Jon Guiles, a university junior from Oshkosh.

Membership in the campus YGOP this semester is 477, highest in the history of the organization. T. student political group is almost 300 members above last year's presidential election year mark, and about 200 members more than the present campus Young Democrat membership.

Guiles attributed the recent rapid growth of the campus YGOP to the merging of two 1964 campaign groups with his organization. Last year both the Collegians for Goldwater and the Battling Badgers for Renk were active on the campus, and shared little overlapping membership, according to Guiles.

The members of the latter two political clubs have since joined the YGOP.

Questions About Viet Nam

On his latest trip to Saigon Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara has pledged that the United States will send in enough troops to defeat the Communists and that at last we are winning the war. It is not necessary to list the dreary number of times Mr. McNamara has been wrong after a short tour of Viet Nam.

The opposition in this country to the war cannot be casually written off as pro-Communist. It is heartening that there has been reaction to the actual support for a Viet Cong victory from some American sources. We do not blame the American men fighting and dying in Viet Nam for disgust and resentment of some of the demonstrations against the war. These military men need and deserve our support.

But the question still remains whether we should have 160,000 men in Viet Nam, whether we should be sending more, and whether this is the best way to oppose Communism or other tyrannies around the world.

About three years ago Secretary McNamara said in a little noted remark that the United States would rise to oppose Communist efforts to enslave peoples everywhere in the world. This has been described as an extension of the Monroe Doctrine from the Western Hemisphere to the entire world. Do we have the military and economic strength for this gargantuan task? And perhaps of even greater importance, do we have the right so to determine the lives and governments of other people?

We can go back to question whether our involvement in World War II did not in effect nourish the monster of Communism by so severely defeating the Germans in Europe and the Japanese in the Pacific. We can go back further and ask whether our participation in World War I which resulted in the complete defeat of the Central Powers did not set up the conditions in which fascism and nazism rose. In a way, our help in both conflicts meant the unconditional surrender terms which created vacuums in power in both Europe and Asia. As old-fashioned colonialism disappeared, the responsibility for keeping order seemed to fall upon us. France and The Netherlands have shrugged off the burdens in part because of our lack of support for their positions. England is now being urged by some Englishmen to withdraw even more, at least in Asia. And there is reluctance meanwhile to allow West Germany and Japan to regain the military might they may need to oppose our enemies.

So far the earlier predictions made about our policy in Asia have not come true. The North Vietnamese did not become more amenable to negotiations after we stepped up our bombings and the ground war. Instead, as some critics of our policies then warned, they apparently have determined to commit North Vietnamese ground forces in increasing numbers. And while Americans are dying, there is no evidence that a single Chinese Communist has even been in a battle.

Perhaps the United States, as the richest and most powerful country in the world, has the responsibility to extend our opportunities. It may be that opposing the Communists—or other tyrants—at every point with military might is the way to do it. But we do not think the American people have ever been asked whether they want to pay the price for what one author called "eternal war for eternal peace."

It is apparent that men of good will must always combat evil and with force. But it has not been proven—or even demonstrated—that the current United States policy has encouraged other people to combat it.

A Fair Jury Law

With the backing of some trial court judges of the state, a principal committee of the State Bar of Wisconsin has undertaken a study of the state's jury system and some of the criticisms about its inequities and inadequacies as recently voiced by competent critics.

The review will be under the direction of Thomas G. Godfrey of Elkhorn, one of the leading practitioners of the state who is chairman of the administration of justice committee of the professional society.

The action was evidently precipitated and inspired by a report by Circuit Judge Max Raskin of Milwaukee, and endorsed by other jurists, that was presented to a state judicial conference last summer and declared that the existing laws governing the selection of juries are antiquated and shot through with exceptions and reservations totally unrelated to contemporary society and conditions. A major weakness, for example, is the automatic exemption from jury service of men and women in 46 occupational classifications, only a few of which are truly entitled to such preferential treatment under modern conditions of work and living.

There is involved here a problem more important than the matter of citizen equality in liability for jury service, important as that consideration obviously is.

The ideal of trial by jury is the assurance of trial by one's peers. But by exempting citizens who are among the best educated in the community, and those in some of the preferred occupations, there is manifestly a danger that juries actually drawn will not be representative of the society they represent and may be well below the community average of educational attainment, outlook, experience and ability. What the state judicial system should have, and is intended to have under the basic laws, and should do its best to restore, is a system that will guarantee that the typical person drawn for jury duty is the true peer of the typical party to a lawsuit. Our congratulations to the bar, and our best wishes to Mr. Godfrey for the successful conclusion of a significant and important study.

Laws on Drug Addiction

Opponents of our strict laws, including a tough federal one, against making narcotics available to addicts have pointed to the relatively low percentage of addicts in Great Britain where doctors are permitted to provide various drugs generally prohibited in this country. If an addict can get the narcotic from a physician, it does away with the lucrative black market in drugs and the various crimes which stem from the addict's need of funds for his pathetic habit.

But in the last four years, there has been a considerable increase in addicts in Great Britain. A committee of physicians and pharmacologists have suggested tightening regulations.

The number of known addicts in England has risen from 454 to 753 in five years. Obviously this is far below the estimated number of addicts in a similar population in the United States. But of concern to the British was the fact that the age level was also lower and that there are signs of a lot more young people experimenting with the various "pep pills" which do not come under the heading of narcotics as such.

The suggested regulations, however, would not take the matter out of the hands of doctors. Narcotics would still be available for the addicts but only at special treatment centers where the emphasis would be on efforts to cure rather than merely to provide drugs for the addicts. The centers would have greater authority, such as the power to detain those who were undergoing withdrawal symptoms and all addicts would have to be reported to a central authority.

England's problem, according to the committee, has been a few doctors who have tended to hand out large amounts of narcotics. There is still no sign of an illegal traffic in drugs such as is widespread in this country. The question about adopting the more stringent regulations is whether it would contribute to an illicit business which has proved to be rich enough in its lures to encourage a lot of people to risk severe penalties, including the death penalty.

Providing narcotics for those whom doctors feel to be hopeless addicts is one problem. But a far greater one is why there is an increase in reliance upon drugs, especially among young people. And despite considerable study and experiments, the rate of those really cured of narcotic addiction is discouragingly small.

Soviet Space Shots Spectaculars But Can't Hide Nation's Poverty

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

Russia's sputniks winging toward Venus help fix the great Soviet hoax firmly in the minds of the American people. The truth reaches us piecemeal but the basic fact disguised by the scientific glamour (and competence) is that Russia is a poor, desperately poor, country.

Taylor

Experts in the performing arts agree the Russians have always been magnificent showmen. The Slavic knack for the spectacular is as much a part of the Soviet Union as borsch. But every thoughtful study shows the country will remain a have-not nation as far ahead as any man can see.

In East Berlin I studied the Red government's own economic figures. Looking at satellite Germany from the living standard of the West looks bad, and it is bad. The East German standard of living is 30 per cent lower than that of West Germany. But when you look at East Germany from the U.S.S.R. it's a paradise. By Moscow's own figures the East German living standard there is 30 per cent higher than it is in the Soviet Union.

Soviet economist Abel G. Aganbegyan, in turn, who heads the Laboratory of Economics - Mathematical Studies, created his own well-known controversy by announcing that Russia's agricultural growth rate in the past six years has declined from eight per cent to below one per cent and that the growth rate of her employment as a whole has fallen two-thirds.

Unemployment has increased constantly and with alarming rapidity in the past two years. It runs from about eight per cent in big cities to 25 per cent in medium-sized towns.

This is confirmed even by Soviet Deputy Premier Veniamin E. Dymshits, Chairman of the State Committee for Material and Technical Supply, the central agency that distributed industrial goods throughout the U.S.S.R.

Homeless Horse Housed in Garage

State Planning Commission Chairman Nikolai K. Baibakov, for his part, has dissolved the enormous administrative unit known as the "Virgin Lands Territory" project. This involved plowing up virgin lands in Kazakhstan, Western Siberia, the Urals and the Volga regions. It spread across an area as large as California, Arizona and Colorado combined.

NOW A DUST BOWL

Moscow designed the program to cure the grain shortage and as a future home for millions of extra citizens. But the steadily decreasing grain yields from the uprooted soil, culminating in the 1963-64 crop debacle, forecast the tremendous mistake.

Today most of the terrain is a dust bowl. The effect is about as incongruous as the great tsar bell of the Kremlin with its jagged hole. Food riots, entirely kept out of the domestic and foreign press, are about the only results.

Meanwhile, the general agricultural failures have cost the bulk of Russia's gold reserve. She has an unfavorable foreign trade balance year after year, and thus a continuous balance-of-payments problem, that simply will not support her free world food purchases.

These exceeded $2 billion in the past two years alone. The drain cut her remaining gold reserve nearly in half and reduced it (as I verified independently in Zurich) to an authoritatively estimated $1½ to $2 billion, which is less than Belgium's.

Nothing is clear to the Russian people. Who is there to tell them the truth? But there's no excuse for our own confusions, Soviet scientific distractions notwithstanding.

The Soviet hoax is as phony as a wax apple.

Kellett Commission Off to Good Start But Job Is Enormous

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The commission on State Government Organization has made a promising start on its big and important job under the command of an energetic private citizen and with the assistance of some of the most able members of the legislature.

The selection of William R.

Wyngaard

Kellett, the retired Neenah corporation officer, as chairman of the commission which hopefully expects to report some recommendations to the present legislature before its final adjournment, is as auspicious as it is unusual. Normally legislators like to hold such prestigious assignments for their own kind. But the job of reviewing the adequacy of state government organization arrangements, to say nothing of getting them changed, is peculiarly difficult politically. It may be guessed that the legislators concluded that the task was either too hazardous to hand to one of themselves or that the drafting of a private citizen of high stature and unquestioned purposes would be more fruitful in the long run.

In any event, Chairman Kellett set exactly the right tone for the job in the first meeting of his group when he declared that he has no interest in what is good for the Democrats, or what is good for the Republicans, but that he is concerned with examining the mechanical structure of a growing state for the best service to all Wisconsin residents and taxpayers.

THE NEED

To say that the state government structure even to the naked and inexperienced eye shows scores of examples of illogical arrangement, uncertain division of responsibilities, rival or repetitive jurisdiction and less than descriptive nomenclature is not to blame and party, or any governor, or any legislature. The fact is that there has not been a thoroughgoing review of the rapidly growing state services in several decades, and there has been no direct and serious attempt for a rearrangement in at least a quarter of a century. This is the kind of thing that the politicians talk about, but rarely do, or even try to do.

It would be optimistic to conclude, on the basis of the exploratory discussions to date, that anything real or significant will result from the present investigation. Yet there is a fair chance. The party caucuses have assigned to the job some of their best talent. Mr. Kellett showed in his work as head of Gov. Knowles' task force studying the fiscal efficiency of state services several months earlier that he is a demanding taskmaster. If this exploration fails, it will testify to the difficulties of the challenge. The idea will get a fair trial.

OBJECTIVES

In a preliminary statement of objectives, the commission proceeded cautiously, in deference to the size of the job, the sensibilities of big and potent agencies and their allies in the electorate, and perhaps other factors. But it made its purpose quite clear, nevertheless. It wants a functional organization of the state agencies.

That means that similar or related functions should be put under the same administrative roof. The goal may be easier to set out on the paper than to achieve politically. In health and education and welfare, in conservation, even in the regulation of business and the licensing of crafts, trades and professions, there will be political objections and pressures in defiance of the literal logic of the goal. Yet no serious student of Wisconsin will have anything but good will for the endeavor, out of a knowledge of the implausible and often confounding arrangement of public programs that has grown up in the default of comprehensive consideration of these matters in the past.

The commission has also said it is interested in more descriptive titles for the major departments, which is a consummation devoutly wished. No statehouse correspondent, or no newspaper desk editor who has dealt with these matters, can avoid some curiosity about what the lawmakers were thinking about they invented some of the names now adorning state agency letterheads.

Strictly Personal

Polyunsaturated Kick No Cure-All for Heart

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Intelligence, says Thomas Aquinas, is "the art of combining and separating." Because most of us do not bother to combine and separate ideas properly, we often create a new problem for every old one we try to solve.

Harris

Our most common mistake is to seize on one factor or element of a problem, and to take that for the whole problem; then, when that fails (as it must), we seize on another. We do this in everything, from politics to personal care, from the handling of money to the handling of children.

One striking example is our recent concern with the high rate of heart disease in the U.S. We keep searching for "the cause"—right now the culprit is high level of serum cholesterol in the blood—and fail to recognize that no single cause can account for it.

Many Americans believe that by eating polyunsaturated fats, they lessen their chances of a heart attack. But this is only one factor in heart disease; to make it the main, or only, factor, is to become a blind faddist, and to separate ideas that should be combined.

At least six elements are involved in heart disease: Heredity, high blood pressure, total blood fat level (commonly, and inaccurately, called "cholesterol count"), excessive cigarette smoking, overweight, and physical inactivity. (Stress may be a factor, but it cannot be measured.)

All these factors are additive, and no one or two alone can usually bring on a heart attack. Eating fewer calories won't help, if you are not at the same time physically active. Mere exercise alone won't help, if you still eat a lot and put on weight. Eliminating cigarettes won't help, if your diet remains unbalanced.

But it is easier for us to emphasize only one strand than to weave them all into a strong and sensible pattern. We go from an "exercise kick" to a "low-calorie kick" to a "polyunsaturated kick" to a "sugarless-and-fatless kick," when we should be getting off all kicks and combining these elements we have foolishly separated.

Basically, the human animal seems to have a nearly ineradicable yearning for simple answers to complex questions. This is what makes doctors despair, and drug merchants delirious with prosperity. We are looking for the magic pill, the sorcerer's potion, the kiss that will transform us from frog to prince. And there is no scarcity of promoters who promise this to us.

"A causes B" is a proposition in logic, not in real life. In real life, B is caused by A and C and D and X, working their forces together. As long as we refuse to use our intelligence in combining ideas, we shall be victimized by one inadequate idea after another, to the end of time.

Po-mato Result of Mixed-Up Garden

clared. "We must put an end to these atomic maniacs who have flooded Europe with nuclear weapons.

"Against whom have the Americans stored this monstrous amount of nuclear warheads? They are directed against the Socialist countries of Eastern Europe."

Some Obligations

Tsarapkin said the Soviet Union is ready to support denuclearized zones in Africa, central Europe and any other area that may be proposed, if other nuclear powers assume the same obligations.

He asserted that the United States appears interested only in denuclearizing such areas as Antarctica because "there are only a few dozen people there." "It is curious that the U. S. position changes and becomes even more rigid and bellicose when proposals are made to denuclearize territories inhabited by men," he said.

Tsarapkin said the Soviet Union links denuclearization with dismantling of all foreign military bases and that this principle should hold in any move to denuclearize Africa.

The United States has accused the Soviets of pushing denuclearization in Europe and other regions to try to point up its demands that foreign bases owned by the West be shut down.

Poland, Too

Poland joined in the attack on U. S. warheads in Europe. Ambassador Bohdan Lewandowski said U. S. claims of a foolproof system of nuclear weapon control were weakened by the recent power blackout in then northeastern United States.

Thirty million Americans were plunged into darkness despite the whole array of most sophisticated mechanical and electronic checks and devices," Lewandowski declared, and "a failure in the nuclear weapons control system would plunge hundreds of millions of people into oblivion forever."

Man Admits to Strangling Wife

Milwaukeean Says He, Bride Fought Over Fidelity

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A young office worker faced a first degree murder charge today in the strangulation of his bride.

Michael D. Fuller, 26, appeared Tuesday before County Judge Robert J. Miech, who continued a bond hearing until today and set a preliminary hearing for Dec. 13.

The body of Fuller's wife, Gloria, 22, was found at the couple's apartment after Fuller surrendered Tuesday to sheriff's deputies in the Safety Building.

Deputies Edward Michaeli and Sigmund Skony quoted Fuller as saying, "I want to surrender myself. I just strangled my wife."

Mrs. Fuller's body was discovered on the living room floor with a pillow and a rag across her face.

The Fullers had been married five months. Fuller was quoted by detectives as saying he and his wife argued Monday night and Tuesday over her marital fidelity.

Fuller is an office employee of an industrial plant and previously lived at Manitowoc, where he couple was wed June 26. Mrs. Fuller, formerly of Minneapolis, was a nurse at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Wood.

Hurley Vice Probe Before Grand Jury

MADISON (AP) — Ten witnesses, six of them women, appeared before a federal grand jury Tuesday in an investigation of alleged racketeering and vice in the stateline town of Hurley, Wis.

U. S. Dist. Atty. Edmund Nix said it was "a safe assumption" that the testimony concerned possible operations by a national crime syndicate. Nix declined to reveal details of the testimony, which is secret under law.

Nix said up to 10 more witnesses, most of them from the Hurley area, were expected to testify Wednesday or Thursday.

Owning Shore Doesn't Assure Right to Use Artificial Lake

MADISON (AP)—The right to use the lake, the purchaser is precluded from either the right of access or use."

The decision upheld a Circuit Court ruling that granted exclusive use of an artificial lake in the Ozaukee County town of Mequon to Alexander D. Mayer. The 28-acre lake was formed as the result of excavations by the Ozaukee Sand and Gravel Co. Springs and seepage from the nearby Milwaukee River feed the lake.

Mayer purchased all but five acres of the 157-acre sand and gravel pit site in 1952. The remaining parcel of shoreline property was held by Roy H. Smith, its original tenant, and sold in 1960 to Henry T. Grueber.

Mayer testified he told Grueber the land purchase would not entitle him to use of the lake. When the Gruebers began using the lake, Mayer built a fence in the water just off their shoreline. The Gruebers tore it down and Mayer got an injunction against them from Circuit Judge Milton L. Meister of Ozaukee County.

Justice Nathan Heffernan, who drew the high court decision, said a property owner's rights are exclusive even in cases where the land is covered with water.

No Rights
"We therefore conclude that the purchaser of property abutting an artificial lake acquires no rights as a riparian owner by virtue of the land acquisition alone," Heffernan said. "Unless the vendor conveys the right to

Phone Calls Fail to Lead To Fugitive

WAUKESHA (AP)—Two telephone calls placed widely sought prison escapee Ralph Gruender in the Waukesha area Tuesday, but two police searches contradicted them.

Authorities searched a bowling alley in Pewaukee after a woman tipster said Gruender was there. He wasn't.

The Milwaukee County sheriff's office received a telephone call from a man identifying himself as Gruender. He said he was hungry, exhausted and nearly broke.

The man refused to surrender or give his exact whereabouts, but said he could see a hotel and two banks in Waukesha from where he was calling. A quick search of the area failed to locate any place matching Gruender's description.

The Mansfield fired 320 rounds into a Communist stronghold on the Cu Lao Rund peninsula southeast of Saigon. Spotters called it the "best shooting we've seen in Viet Nam."

U. S. Air Force planes made their biggest leaflet drop of the war, releasing 7.1 million leaflets over the Red River delta hoping winds would carry them over Hanoi, Haiphong and other population centers in North Viet Nam.

So far 60 million leaflets have been dropped on the north in an effort to explain the U. S. and South Vietnamese position in the war.

Poisoned Poles

On a patrol from their headquarters at An Khe, in the central highlands, troops of the U. S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division discovered a cache of 1,000 punji stakes, poisoned bamboo poles used by the Communists to waylay troops. Another Cavalry unit found seven containers of small arms near the base.

U. S. briefing officers said there was no casualty figure available yet for a company of government militiamen who were jumped by the Communists as it went to the rescue of two South Vietnamese platoons east of An Khe, near the coastal city of Qu Nhon. The 200-man unit radioed it had suffered moderate casualties before headquarters lost contact with it.

Two companies from South Korea's "Tiger" Division linked up with the beleaguered platoons at Ken My village and killed at least five communists, the spokesman said.

37 Bodies

Later 37 enemy bodies were found on the battlefield. Korean casualties were described as light and Vietnamese losses as moderate.

In Saigon, a grenade exploded on a car assigned to the U. S. military police chief in Viet Nam, Lt. Col. Jasper Vance. He was not in the vehicle. The American driver was not hurt, but six Vietnamese passers by were cut by flying glass.

In the highlands the Communists resumed guerrilla warfare.

Under cloak of night, 29 or 30 Viet Cong crept up to an outpost at Tam Ky, 30 miles south of Da Nang, and pounded a U. S. advisers' billet with small arms fire. No Americans were reported injured.

The Communists also tossed grenades at a nearby district headquarters building, inflicting light casualties on the government defenders, a U. S. spokesman said. No attempt was made on the provincial headquarters in Tam Ky, capital of Quang Tin Province.

Fifty miles to the south, an unknown number of Viet Cong struck a platoon-sized South Vietnamese outpost at Son Ha, 18 miles from Quang Ngai City. A U. S. spokesman said contact with the post was lost and its fate uncertain.

No Attempt

The Communists put the Son My outpost, 5 miles northwest of Quang Ngai City, under 20 minutes of heavy fire from automatic weapons. Government troops sustained no casualties and replied with mortars, the spokesman said.

The guerrilla tactics contrasted sharply with the open daylight assault employed by a 2,000-man Communist force Saturday in destroying a government regiment on a rubber plantation 45 miles northwest of Saigon.

The ground fighting slackened off the first two days of the week during Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's latest inspection, but the Communists returned to the attack Tuesday. U. S. spokesmen kept an offi-

Mother of Eight Finds 'Really Cares'

EVANSVILLE, Wis. (AP)—A Chicago woman who moved to Evansville with her eight children to escape "a life in the slums" has found that "somebody really cares."

Mrs. Martha Taylor went back to Chicago for the Thanksgiving weekend and when she returned the one-room schoolhouse she is living in was stocked with food, clothing and household items.

"I guess somebody really cares," she told her minister, the Rev. Alan Kromholz of Evansville's First Congregational Church.

One Room

Published reports last week told of the woman's plight—living in one room with eight children, no beds, little furniture and few clothes.

"I just stood there a minute and didn't know what to think," Mrs. Taylor said, recalling her reaction upon returning to the old schoolhouse east of Evansville.

The clergyman estimated that more than 100 donations were delivered to the home. At least eight beds were offered. Others gave a living room couch, an overstuffed chair, six modern straight back chairs, a table, a television set and bed covers.

Mrs. Taylor moved her family to Evansville in early September after she and her husband separated. She said she wanted to escape "a life in the slums." She earns about $40 a week sewing.

deems noninflationary. However, federal officials avoided the scare word "inflation."

Johnson's concern about a possible new wage-price spiral, born of a significant boost in federal spending to finance the war in Viet Nam, has been evident for months.

It was this concern that prompted him to invite steel wage negotiators to the White House in late August to work out a new contract that would not do violence to federal wage-price guidelines.

The same concern prompted the President, acting through subordinates, to counter announced increases in aluminum and copper prices within the past month. Those price hikes were canceled.

Johnson himself has kept silent on prices in recent weeks. But his actions, as carried out by lesser officials, have signaled his deep concern.

At the same time, the chief executive has been resisting higher interest rates — a remedy some say is a cure-all for inflation. Martin has been in the forefront of those who, particularly in the Eisenhower administration, tried to curb rising living costs by making it more costly to borrow — a move that tends to clamp down an expanding economy.

Church Leaders To Debate Issues Of Christianity

MADISON (AP) — National and state leaders of major Protestant and orthodox churches arrived in Madison today prepared to begin debate and deliberation on critical issues facing Christianity.

Nearly 300 delegates are expected for the general board meeting of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States. The meeting, held in Madison for the first time, will continue through Friday.

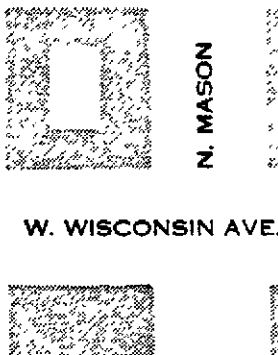

The council is a cooperative agency of 30 churches with a total membership of 42 million persons. It was established in 1950.

On the agenda will be the task of spelling out the council's position on the war in Viet Nam, political developments in South America, U. S. relations with Latin America, China's admission to the United Nations, and rights and responsibilities of dissent.
